Father, Daughter United After 64 Years

Time, Blindness Can't Wither Their Love

FATHER AND DAUGHTER: After a separation of 64 years, August Bettig is happy to be reunited with his daughter Lydia, who arrived from Poland last week for a six-week visit. Bettig last set eyes on Lydia when she was 18 months old. Although Bettig, 89, is now blind and hard of hearing, he enjoys being with his daughter and holding hands. (Staff photo)

August Bettig of Benton township last set eyes on his daughter Lydia in 1913 when he said goodbye to the wife and 18-month-old child he could not afford to bring with him when he emigrated from Poland to the United States.

Last week, Bettig, now 89 and blind, was reunited with the only child of his first marriage after a separation of 64 years.

Mrs. Lydia Grauman arrived from Poland Friday for a six-week visit with her father and other relatives in the Twin Cities area.

Bettig never saw his first wife again as she died of an illness shortly after he left Poland. Relatives who kept Lydia refused to send her to the United States and pocketed the money Bettig sent to pay her way over, according to members of the family living in America.

But Lydia finally made the journey last week, and when she embraced her father for the first time, both just cried and cried, family members said.

"They were crying and crying and they just wouldn't come apart," said Paul Bettig, nephew of the senior Bettig. "He holds her hand just like she is a little girl," the nephew said.

The elder Bettig is hard of hearing as well as blind, and he tires easily, so Lydia visits with him for just a few hours each day.

For the most part, they just hold hands, family members said, but they are both very happy.

The elder Bettig and his third wife, Isabel, live at 1187 Circle drive in an apartment complex for senior citizens.

He is twice a widower and has four children from his second marriage. Two of his daughters, Mrs. Bernice Wheeler of Benton Harbor and Mrs. Ethel Fultz of Benton township, have remained in the area. A son, Herman, and another daughter, Mrs. Lorraine Simpson, are now living in Missouri.

In Poland, Mrs. Grauman lives on a collective farm near Warsaw with her daughter. She also has three sons and 10 grandchildren.

Her husband, Heinrich, whom she married in 1929, was killed during World War II while serving in the German army on the Russian front.

Although the Bettig family comes from Poland, they are German by origin, and that is their native tongue. Mrs. Grauman speaks only Polish and German, and she is depending on family members here to translate.

She is staying with her cousin, Paul, of 1880 North Cambridge drive, St. Joseph township, who emigrated from West Germany in 1961.

Paul's father, Robert, of 3726 Knox street, Lincoln township, is a brother of August Bettig.

Robert came to the U.S. in 1951. The entire Bettig family contributed the money needed to bring Mrs. Grauman here.

August Bettig has lived in the Twin Cities area since 1913. He retired in 1958 from Industrial Rubber Goods Co., of St. Joseph, now known as the Ball Rubber Division of the Ball Corp. He also did some farming in earlier years.

Businessmen Freed From OSHA Burden

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is freeing millions of small businessmen from the requirements of time-consuming paperwork that cost an estimated $100 million a year.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration, whipping boy of business since its formation, announced Tuesday it no longer will require 3.4 million small businesses to comply with record-keeping and reporting requirements of the federal job, health and safety law.

For 1.5 million larger firms, paperwork requirements will be cut in half, Labor Secretary Ray Marshall said at a news conference.

Marshall said that in addition to saving millions of dollars, the changes "will mean a lot to the thousands of small businessmen who face a mountain of federal paperwork."

The National Federation of Independent Business praised the government's announcement as "a giant step."

"We need much more of this in the federal government," said James D. McKeever, a spokesman for the organization. He said a typical small business now spends an average of one-half to one day a week filling out federal forms.

"We finally have a government official who is taking action instead of making pie in the sky promises that evaporate once the newspaper headlines disappear," McKeever said. His group calls itself the nation's largest organization of small businesses.

Despite the praise from one organization, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, which represents mostly larger firms, said the changes don't go far enough.

"We're disappointed because the changes still leave a lot of paperwork," a spokesman said.

Since Congress created OSHA in 1971, the agency's regulations have been criticized bitterly by the business community as costly, time-consuming, ineffective and harassing.

Marshall said the reduction of paperwork is in keeping with President Carter's goal to simplify government regulations without going back on an administration commitment to preserve the health and safety of American workers.

"We don't believe that OSHA needs to be a burden on anyone's back," Marshall said. "That's why we will continue to move aggressively to improve OSHA enforcement while trying to lessen the inconvenience that this causes for business."

Marshall said that beginning in 1978 the country's business firms with 10 or fewer employees no longer will have to maintain complicated accident and illness records. However, he emphasized that they still are subject to the job health and safety law.

For the larger firms, the new procedures will replace three forms that now must be filled out with a single form which would use a "simple check-off procedure" for keeping a record of injuries and illnesses. The total number of entries would be reduced from 80 to 19.

The number of firms required to take part in the Labor Department's annual survey of occupational illnesses and injuries would be reduced to 332,000 from the 1972 sampling of 650,000.

Fate Detoured Crash Victims

BANGOR — Two Bangor residents who died in a head-on collision near Frankfort yesterday and another Bangor girl who was injured were attempting to get home when the crash occurred, according to a relative here.

Brent Leffel, of Bangor, said his twin sisters, Regina and Tina Patton, both 15, and David McKay, 20, had started home but had developed truck trouble and had been picked up by relatives from Frankfort a short time before the crash.

Regina Patton and David McKay were killed in the smashup. Tina Patton was hospitalized but has since been released. Marcia Tanner, 26, a sister of the Patton girls, was also injured in the crash and was reported in satisfactory condition in a Frankfort hospital.

Two other people killed in the crash were also relatives. They were Arlo D. Tanner, 23, Frankfort, brother-in-law to Mrs. Tanner; and Ricky Ives, 14, Benzonia, a nephew of Tanner.

Leffel said the group from Bangor had driven to Frankfort to drop off Mrs. Tanner for a visit at her brother-in-law's home.

According to Leffel, the group had gone to Grayling before going to Frankfort to pickup proof of insurance papers for the truck from Mrs. Tanner's husband. The Tanners, Leffel said, are separated.

Voluntary Bankruptcy Petition Filed By V-M

V-M Corporation, Benton Harbor, Tuesday petitioned for voluntary bankruptcy in U.S. Bankruptcy court. Grand Rapids, and asked for 10 days to file a statement of affairs and schedule of debts.

Bankruptcy Judge David Nims said he issued a temporary restraining order preventing the City of Benton Harbor from auctioning V-M personal property to satisfy back taxes. A hearing on the order is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Friday in Kalamazoo.

The bankruptcy petition was filed by Atty. J. D. Hartwig of St. Joseph, and the court appointed Atty. Philip A. Brown, also of St. Joseph, as receiver.

V-M, once a leading manufacturer of stereo equipment and record changers, closed last Friday. Victor A. Miller, company president, said there wasn't enough cash to meet the payroll, but new financing was being sought.

The City of Benton Harbor on Monday padlocked V-M plants because the firm owes about $360,000 in property taxes, according to City Manager Melvin Farmer.

Farmer said City Finance Director Joseph Christoffel on Monday was incorrectly informed by the bankruptcy court that V-M filed for bankruptcy on Monday, July 11. Farmer said V-M earlier notified the city that if bankruptcy was decided on, the city would be notified five days in advance.

The court told this newspaper it had confused V-M Corp., Benton Harbor, with another firm with a similar name at Spring Lake, which petitioned for bankruptcy on July 11.

Farmer said V-M in Benton Harbor on Monday night notified Christoffel that a petition for bankruptcy would be filed within 24 hours.

Farmer said in view of this, he would not consider the agreement violated, and the city would work with V-M in any way possible to reach an acceptable agreement. And the city will take no immediate steps to auction V-M's personal property because of the agreement and the court order.

Farmer added that the city has to protect itself considering that V-M owes some $360,000 in taxes. Farmer said V-M has been paying personal property taxes right along, but only at a rate of $500 a month. Farmer said this wasn't enough to prevent the firm from falling behind in taxes owed.

Padlocks were placed on the main V-M building on Park street and its service center on West Main street.

Farmer said the city's action involves only personal property taxes which comprise the majority of the $360,000.

County Treasurer William Heyn said taxes and penalties due on V-M real estate total $136,671.46. He said V-M last paid real estate taxes in the summer of 1974.

'Koreagate' Probe Languishes In Congress

Historians and sociologists tell us the embattled colonials and the Republic's founding fathers were no better nor worse than today's breed of American.

That is to say, they acted from the same motivations of patriotism, chicanery, honesty, humility, pomposity and all the other conflicting traits characterizing mankind's struggles down through the centuries that can be found in the present generation.

It is, however, something of a coincidence that the Republic moved through its first 100 years comparatively free from major scandals in its federal government.

Starting with the Credit Mobilier expose in the Grant Administration, the second hundred years have witnessed one skyrocket after another shooting up from the Pennsylvania axis in Washington.

The Teapot Dome bribery helped to speed Warren Harding to the grave.

Harry Truman never could explain away the deep freezes and mink coats handed out for RFC loans to morally bankrupt borrowers, and he had to go through the motion of reorganizing the old Bureau of Internal Revenue because some of its agents were knocking down in one manner or another.

Dwight Eisenhower had to fire his first assistant, Sherman Adams, for accepting vicuna coats in exchange for White House favors.

Richard Nixon boobytrapped himself into Watergate.

The current stage fare at Washington is Koreagate.

A few years ago a dapper South Korea, Tongsun Park, showed up on the banks of the Potomac.

Park held himself out as the advance agent for a South Korean business consortium.

His real employer was the South

Korean secret police and his mission was to maintain a favorable Washington attitude toward his country which requires sizeable economic and military assistance from the U.S.

Park spent generously on parties, girls, campaign contributions, personal gifts, vacation trips and just about any favor he could extend to members of Congress in need of fringe benefits which are not compensable with their official expense accounts. At least, they are not supposed to be.

By the latest count something like 115 past and present members of the national legislature were donees of Park's ever open purse.

Park departed our shores some months ago when rumors of his slush finding began to swirl over the halls of Congress.

Consequently an accurate account of his dispensations, a complete guest list, has to be approximated from secondary sources.

The House Ethics Committee has been conducting an investigation of sorts.

Its chairman is Rep. John J. Flynt, Jr., a courtly gentleman from Griffin, Georgia.

Chairman Flynt has been convening his committee once a month.

Last Friday, Philip A. Lacovara, a fire-eating proponent of high standards in government service, resigned as the committee's lawyer and took off for a London vacation.

Before he left, Lacovara, who quit the Watergate Committee's legal staff in protest against Jerry Ford's pardoning Nixon, released a letter to Flynt charging "a breakdown in the relationship of mutual trust and confidence that must exist between lawyer and client."

Flynt first ignored the blast, then reversed the silence in strong words saying the impetuous Lacovara has yet to learn it is the lawyer's function to advise his client, not to boss him around.

The weekend behind them, two Republican Senators, Howard Baker of Tennessee and Arizona's John Rhodes, called upon Jimmy Carter to appoint a special Koreagate prosecutor.

That, replied Jimmy, would be "inappropriate and unwarranted, and would probably impede the investigation."

Griffin Bell, the Attorney General, he continued, will pursue the case "vigorously and without concern for person or party."

Judge Bell declared he would do just that.

Further, he asked, why do we need an Attorney General at all if we are going to appoint a special prosecutor every time you have a case of some importance?

Why indeed, except, of course, that Park did business with four or five times as many Democrats as he did Republicans for the simple reason the Democrats controlled Congress.

An ABC radio report from London names Tip O'Neill, the House speaker, and Jim Wright, the House majority leader, as heavy recipients of Park's largesse.

Naturally, these worthies deny the allegation with a splendid show of vigor.

Flynt, much against his instinct of seeing any colleague, Republican or Democrat, painted with egg on his face, may have to move faster and Jimmy has put the Honorable Bell so far out in the open that he will have to make a showing of sorts.

John Gardner, the founder of Common Cause, wants a Watergate type of investigation.

In a fiery press release he compares the Korean caper to one of the tasks the gods assigned to Hercules, that of cleaning out the Augean stables.

As a matter of purism in high places, Gardner is right. Congressmen should not be taking goodies with strings attached.

Flynt and Bell should stir their stumps.

Congress, though, has too many important things to do, just keeping alert to the curve balls tossed its way by Carter is a full time job, to put on the TV circus that was Watergate.

WOULD LIMIT CONGRESSIONAL TERMS

Editor, Because all Americans are volunteers, we are obligated to respect the personal sovereignty of each of us and we, each of us, are obligated to earn this respect.

When "We The People" created our Republic by adopting our Constitution, we retained control of our personal sovereignty by delegating limited sovereignty (authority/responsibility) to our Congress, our President and our Judiciary.

Thus when we become adults, we, each of us, are free to demonstrate our integrity and self respect by accepting the responsibilities inherent in citizenship in our Republic, or by moving to another location on spaceship earth.

By amending our Constitution to limit the number of terms any one of us can serve in our Congress, we can elect more of those of us with the integrity and ability to lead and follow volunteers.

HOMOSEXUALS 'MAKE' CONTRIBUTIONS

Editor, While I'm very happy that my sexual preferences are totally heterosexual, I believe that homosexuals have made, and will continue to make, many valuable contributions to society.

Also, because I feel that my own heterosexuality is completely secure, I don't have a compulsion to lash out at homosexuals in order to prove something.

There is no footnote at the bottom of the United States Constitution and Bill of Rights that says it applies to heterosexuals, and that homosexuals do not have the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Mr. Richard Hemphill's letter in general, and in particular his name calling and branding the homosexuals as "filthy creatures" will provide most people with an insight into his character. He certainly need have no fear that a homosexual will ever "approach" him as most of them are quite selective.

Interestingly enough, the Bible used by Anita Bryant and most others as a basis for maligning homosexuals, is based on the King James Bible. This translation was sponsored by King James I of England who happened to be a homosexual himself. Some of the others who would be "Filthy Creatures" to Mr. Hemphill are — Socrates, Aristotle, Alexander the Great, Richard the Lion Hearted, Leonardo da Vinci, Pope Julius III, Walt Whitman, Hans Christian Andersen, Gertrude Stein, Tennessee Williams and even Dag Hammarskjöld, former secretary general of the United Nations.

VALENTINES ARE IMPORTANT TOO

Editor, I'm wondering why Mr. Sterling Zerbel feels that by raising the postal rates on first class mail for businesses to 16 cents it will further contribute to the demise of the small businessman.

All of us could do with fewer regulations, red tape and social inequities, but any business can deduct its postal expenses as an operating expense. I certainly wish taxpayers had that option.

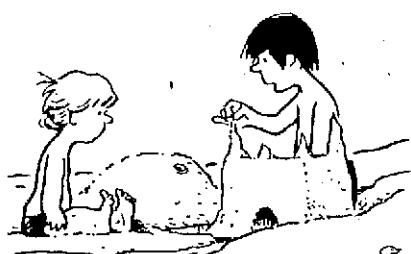

Valentines are important, too!

O'Neill Puts

On The Squeeze

WASHINGTON — House Speaker Tip O'Neill may be the administration's most valuable ally on Capitol Hill, but President Carter is paying a stiff price for the speaker's help in steering his programs through Congress.

O'Neill, an old school politician who firmly believes in the spoils system, is using his leverage with Carter to influence — and sometimes dictate — key presidential appointments.

The latest coup is the speaker's reported success in forcing Carter to name an old O'Neill crony to a six-year term on the Federal Election Commission, the agency responsible for enforcing the campaign laws which congressional and presidential candidates must observe.

Although no formal announcement had been made at this writing, administration sources report Carter will appoint John McGarry, a veteran staff aide on the House Administration Committee, to the $50,000-a-year FEC post.

The decision to how to O'Neill's wishes followed a bitter behind-the-scenes battle that had raged more than two months.

McGarry was not the White House's first choice for the sensitive FEC job. Carter's personnel advisers and political aides had strongly supported the candidacy of Susan King, 37, the top staff aide to FEC Chairman Thomas E. Harris.

King has worked at the election commission since it was created two years ago, and had previously played a key role in persuading Congress to enact the post-Watergate campaign reform law which established the FEC when she headed a public interest lobby known as the Center for Public Financing.

Women's groups, organized labor and a variety of public interest organizations vigorously urged her appointment to the FEC vacancy but O'Neill and certain other House Democratic leaders — including Majority Whip John Brademas — reportedly opposed her choice.

"They complained she is a knee-jerk reformer, which just isn't true," said one White House insider. "What was really bugging them is that she's not one of the usual boys in the pinstriped suits who can be counted on to do their bidding."

An aide to O'Neill insisted the speaker made no attempt to veto King for the FEC job, although he conceded that "our very, very strong backing" for McGarry might have been interpreted that way by the White House.

Carter aides who had pressed King's cause were bitter at the meddling from Capitol Hill. "It's a crying shame," one said, "but there's nothing we can do." The decision was reportedly made by Carter personally.

This is not the first time O'Neill has put the squeeze on Carter over a major appointment. Last winter, the speaker bullied the president into reneging on his decision to retain Republican Jack Eckert as head of the General Services Administration with full authority to name his own deputy.

At O'Neill's insistence, Carter told Eckert he would have to accept a deputy suggested by the House speaker if he wanted to stay as GSA chief. Eckert, to his credit, wanted no part of such a sleazy deal and promptly quit.

It's not just the Democrats on Capitol Hill who have plunged into the appointment fray, either. GOP leaders in the House and Senate are trying to get Carter to name a candidate of their choosing to a Republic vacancy on the FEC. So far, they have had notably less success than O'Neill.

The White House reportedly wants a Republican who wholeheartedly supports the campaign reform law and who will favor public financing of congressional elections as well. But Republicans of that stripe are hard to come by, and the congressional leaders want someone more attuned to the views of the bulk of the GOP.

All things considered, the tug-of-war and hawking over the two FEC appointments cannot be said to constitute the finest hour of either Carter or the congressional leadership. Self-interest and back-scratching seem to have carried the day.

Byrd Flies Over Senate

WASHINGTON — Majority Leader Robert Byrd is steadily tightening his control over the Senate machinery. Some Senators suspect he is going to turn out to be more like Lyndon Johnson, who ran the Senate like his personal fiefdom while he was majority leader, than immediate predecessor Mike Mansfield, who regarded himself merely one among 100 equals.

Byrd has imposed strict new rules on Senate conduct. For instance, Mansfield used to look the other way if a Senator was a bit late for a vote and allow him to be recorded anyway. Now no vote is held for any Senator, even if he's clearly visible to aides rushing down the corridor just outside the chamber floor.

Senator aides used to make calls and receive messages freely on cloakroom telephones. Now they are forbidden to use them, even if it's their Senator calling.

The most controversial new rule, however, forbids staff aides to be on the Senate floor if their Senator is not present. This means a Senator cannot send his agent to monitor debates, formerly a common practice. Reportedly, the rule was really aimed at Sen. Edward Kennedy, who sometimes had as many as eight staffers milling around on the floor. But it applies to them all.

Sen. Edward Brooke (R-Mass.) prides himself on being a champion of women's rights. But he doesn't practice what he preaches. He has a strict dress code for women who work in his office — no pants allows. There is no dress code for the male staffers.

In this town it's not what you know, it's who you know, of more precisely with whom you went to school. President Carter has now selected three of his classmates at the U.S. Naval Academy for high-powered administration jobs. The latest is John Sullivan, who becomes Federal Railroad Administrator. The others are Vernon Weaver, head of the Small Business Administration, and Adm. Stansfield Turner, head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Sen. Minority Leader Howard Baker recently listed 11 Republicans he felt were potential presidential candidates in 1980. Modestly, he declined to include his own name, even though he is known to have White House ambitions. But he also omitted from his laundry list of candidates the name of Republican National Committee Chairman William Brock, who has similar ambitions well known to Baker. Brock just happens to be Baker's former Senate colleague from Tennessee.

New Hampshire, home of that influential first-in-the-nation presidential primary, is considering a bill to require proportional allocation of delegates. In 1976, Ronald Reagan got 49 per cent of the popular vote in the GOP primary there but only 2 of 14 delegates.

RONALD PAPE
MLHS Coordinator

Ronald Pape Coordinator For Lutheran High Drive

BY JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

Ronald Pape, 1412 Forbes avenue, St. Joseph, a faculty member at Michigan Lutheran high school, has been named coordinator of the "Project M-LHS" fund raising campaign. Announcement was made by Martin Krieger, general chairman, who said Pape will work on meetings and mailings for the campaign to benefit Michigan Lutheran high school.

Pape also will be involved in scheduling of the campaign's slide film presentation, "Young Believers," produced by Century Education Productions of St. Joseph.

Theme of the campaign is Maintaining Lutheran Heritage Strength. Krieger also announced

Ted Froehlich, St. Paul's, Sodus; Alvin Kroening, Good Shepherd, Benton Harbor; Richard Lentz, Grace, St. Joseph; Larry Ameling, St. Paul's, Stevensville; Vernon Harsch, St. Paul's South Haven; Edward Marks, Grace, Eau Claire; Lenord Stewert, St.

Matthew's, Benton Harbor; Ned Adams, St. John's, Allegan; Ernest G. Eiswald, Hope, Hartford; and Arnold Doberstein, St. John's, Dowagiac.

Although no dollar goal has been set, two-year commitments of financial support for Michigan Lutheran high school are being sought. Krieger said funds raised will be used for operating expenses of the school, pay interest on construction loans, and it is also anticipated a substantial number of loans will be retired.

Michigan Lutheran high school, East Marquette Woods road, Royalton township, will begin its ninth year of operation in August with an anticipated enrollment of 175 in grades 9 through 12.

Benton Reappraisal Starts On Thursday

BY RALPH LUTZ

Staff Writer

Fourteen people paid by federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds will begin work

Thursday in the reappraisal of residential property in Benton township.

Supervisor Cathryn Sirk introduced the recruits during last night's board of trustees meeting and said they have completed three weeks of training.

Assessor Robert Allain said the work will run for one year and be funded by about $144,000 in CETA money. Allain said work will include complete inspections inside and outside of buildings, verification of ownership, sketches and photographs.

The CETA workers will collect the information and the township assessor will make the final decision on assessments based on the workers' reports, according to Mrs. Sirk. She added the residents who feel a reappraisal is not necessary may refuse to have their property inspected.

Mrs. Sirk said the purpose of the reappraisal work is to "correct the inequities" in present assessments. She said the township board of review last year heard 135 cases of residents protesting their assessments and "that was by far too many."

Allain was authorized by the board of trustees last April 19 to apply for CETA funding for the program. Mrs. Sirk said the Berrien county CETA board denied the request on the grounds that entering homes is a sensitive area that requires proper training for reappraisals.

Allain protested May 19 to the Berrien county board of commissioners, saying the new employees would work in teams of two, under his supervision. Mrs. Sirk said the affairs committee of the county board referred the matter back to the CETA board, and the request then was approved.

Allain in April said most of the reappraisals will be in homes, because a large amount of commercial and industrial reappraisals were done last year.

Those hired will be in uniform and carry identification. They are: Alberta Ellen Bradford, Eddie Mae Davis, Cathy Dudley, Edward Lynn Evans, John C. Harmon, Roberta Harris, Michael S. Kelm, Malu King, Maxie Lipscomb, Larry Jean Little, Lois Nelson, Alene Pitchford, Walter Thomas Jr., and Delores A. Williams.

The board accepted recommendations of the township planning commission in approving a schedule of fees for people planning developments in the township. The schedule is, $75 for the planning commission to consider rezoning land; $60 for special use permits; $275 for calling a special planning commission meeting at the request of people seeking commission action; no charge for site plan reviews for commercial and industrial developments under one acre; $100 for such reviews on one acre of land, and an extra $25 for each additional acre; and $100 for site plan reviews for multiple-dwelling projects, plus $2 per living unit.

Community Development Director Judd Spray said contracts have been signed and work is underway for installation of storm sewers in Benton Heights and water distribution system in the Territorial - Burton - Crystal area. Details of the projects, totaling $341,008 from Community Development funds, were reported earlier.

The board scheduled a public hearing for its next regular meeting Aug. 2 on establishing a special assessment district for financing a prime coat seal surface on Urbandale avenue. The cost would be $33,050, or $2 per lineal foot.

Following the regular meeting, the board of trustees and planning commission met jointly with officials of the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning Council. John Kowalski, senior planner for the council, detailed steps leading to publication of a brochure on the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph transportation needs by the year 2000.

Port, Klock Park 'Concerns' To BH

Commercial port development along the St. Joseph and Paw Paw rivers and the development of Jean Klock park are two areas the City of Benton Harbor wants considered as "Areas of Particular Concern" in a study being conducted by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Benton Harbor planning commissioners yesterday told David Holloman, senior planner for the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission, these are the two areas the city wants included in the DNR's Costal Management study.

The Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission is currently meeting with local municipalities to determine what areas of Van Buren and Berrien counties' 55-mile coastline it will recommend to the DNR to be identified as "Areas of Particular Concern."

Holloman said the designation may qualify municipalities for technical and financial assistance from the state for preservation or development of the areas.

Planning Commission Chairman Edward Troffer also asked city staff to meet with the city commission to determine the exact description of the areas and the problems involved in each area. The statewide Costal Management study, scheduled to be completed and completed by the DNR in about a year, will be a guide to management of coastal and harbor areas along the Great Lakes with consideration for ecological, cultural, economic, and recreation values.

Kerley & Starks Veep Appointed

Kerley & Starks.

Johnson joined the staff in 1963 and was named manager in 1968. He attended Adrian, Mich., college and was graduated from Cincinnati, Ohio, College of Mortuary Science.

Johnson is a board member of Napier Parkview church, eye bank committee chairman of the St. Joseph Lions club, and a member of the state eye bank committee. He is certified as an emcee to remove eyes from donors for the eye bank.

Kerley & Starks Funeral Homes, Inc., has chapels in St. Joseph, Berrien Springs, and New Buffalo.

Mittan To Address BHHS Reunion

State Rep. Ray Mittan is expected to turn nostalgia when he addresses the annual reunion of the Benton Harbor High School Alumni association Saturday, Aug. 6. Mittan now lives in Niles but was a Benton Harbor resident for many years and a member of the BHHS class of 1930. "We wanted someone who remembers the history of the school without getting bookish, and Hay's the man," said Marvin Radom, association president.

The reunion will be at Benton Harbor Holiday Inn with cocktails at 6 and dinner at 7:30. Special recognition will go to the classes of 1927 and 1952. Robert Kinney and George Hahn '27, and David Bauschke and Margaret Hadley Hilkink '52 are co-chairmen for their respective classes.

Tickets are $8.50 a person and reservations are due by July 30 with Dr. George Freier, 111 Hawthorne avenue, St. Joseph, Mich. 49055. Checks should be made payable to Dr. Freier.

Children Blamed In BH Blaze

Children playing with a cigarette lighter were believed responsible for a fire Tuesday morning which caused $1,000 damage to the home of Viola Williams, 860 Ogden avenue, Benton Harbor firemen said.

Firefighters reported Viola Williams and six children escaped the house unharmed through a front door after the children awakened their mother who was asleep in a first-floor bedroom when the fire began.

Firemen said the blaze began in bedding in another bedroom of the single-family dwelling and spread to walls and ceiling of the room, filling the house with thick smoke and intense heat.

When fire-fighters responded to the 8:25 a.m. call, they saw smoke coming from the front door of the house and second story windows, they reported

Lincoln Library Has New Chief

Chadwick T. Raymond, 24, has been appointed director of the Lincoln township library, according to the township library board.

He replaces Edwin Rauh who left the post after six years to take a position as director of children's services at the Gallia county district library in Gallipolis, in southern Ohio.

Raymond, who began work July 15, received a master's degree in library science in June from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He received his bachelor's degree from Iowa State University of Science and Technology, Ames, Iowa, his hometown. He has worked in libraries at both schools.

According to Mrs. Donald (Gail) Chapman, chairman of the library board, Raymond's salary is $10,200 annually.

Raymond and his wife,

Nancy, and their son live in Stevensville.

The organization is now collecting books for the sale to be held Sept. 29-30 and Oct. 1 in the parking lot of Sears, Roebuck and company, Benton Harbor. With her is co-chairman of the sale, Mrs. R.W. (Annette) Brown. (Staff photo)

Benton Harbor-St. Joseph branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) is collecting used books and paperbacks in good condition for its annual book sale. The sale will be held Sept. 29-30 and Oct. 1, in the parking lot Sears, Roebuck and company, Benton Harbor. Proceeds will be used for national and local fellowships and scholarships for women continuing their education on the graduate level. The organization will accept all books, including fiction, non-fiction, children's books, cookbooks, gardening and hobby books, and such magazines as National Geographic. Phonograph records and sheet music are also sought.

Persons wishing to donate books or other items may contact Mrs. John (Virginia) Blatchford, St. Joseph, or give them to any AAUW member. Deposit boxes are also available and located at the Village Pantry, Benton township; Muir's drug store, Fairplain plaza; Lincoln township library, Stevensville, and the YWCA, St. Joseph. Committee members include Mrs. Frank (Marjorie) Harter, general chairman; Mrs. R.W. (Annette) Brown, co-chairman; Mrs. Robert (Delores) Sykora and Mrs. Blatchford, marketing, and Mrs. Carl (Mary) Spessard, publicity.

Weddings

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Village Seventh-day Adventist church, Berrien Springs, was the setting, July 10, for the wedding of Pamela Jo Furman and Brian Lee Butler. Elder William Ambler of the church and Dr. Herbert Atkinson, Stevensville, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Furman, 7 Fisher court, Berrien Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Butler, 204 North George street, Berrien Springs, are parents of the groom. The bride wore an old fashioned gown of ivory cotton polyester and lace trim. A picture hat held her floor length veil and she carried ivory and peach silk roses, fox tails and baby's breath.

Miss Cindy L. Brown was maid of honor and Miss Sherrie Winders and Miss Bobbi Furman, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaids were Lisa Furman, the bride's sister, and Julie Gillies. Rochelle Kuhlstrom was the flower girl and Kendall Erhard was the ring bearer.

Mike Gilkey served as best man. Ushers were Van McCray, and Jon and David Butler, brothers of the groom. A reception was held in the Wolverine room of Andrews university campus center. Following a wedding trip to Mackinac Island the couple will reside at route 2, Box 2570, Hermiston, Ore.

MRS. BRIAN BUTLER
Pamela Furman

Carole Jean Nielsen and James Henry Mainwaring were married June 25, at the United Methodist church, Stevensville. The Rev. Lloyd Phillips performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Nielsen, Cleveland avenue, St. Joseph, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mainwaring, Oshkosh, Wis.

The bride wore a gown of chiffon, trimmed with seed pearls. A headpiece held her fingerly lace edged veil and she carried roses, daisies and baby's breath.

The groom's sister, Mrs. Robert Stark, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert Shuff was maid of honor.

Daniel Mainwaring served his brother as best man. Ushers were Ronald, Larry and Chris Nielsen, brothers of the bride. The couple is now residing in Lubbock, Texas.

The bride is a graduate of Lakeshore high school and Central Michigan university. As an elementary school teacher, she has taught at E.P. Clarke school, St. Joseph; Clark Air Force Base, Philippine Islands, and a United States Army base in Stuttgart, Germany. The groom graduated from Oshkosh high school and the University of Wisconsin. He served four years in the United States Army, of which three years were spent in Stuttgart as a captain. He is employed at Texas Instruments, Lubbock.

WATER RIGHTS -- AND WRONGS

Enforce Pool Safety Rules

Just because summer is half over is no reason to give up vigilance around the swimming pool.

No doubt pool safety rules were reviewed last spring in anticipation of swimming season, but it could be that after six weeks of summer, attention to those rules is becoming lax.

A manufacturer of stabilized chlorine for pool care products, offers the following reminders.

— By enforcing the No Running rule around the pool, you can prevent skinned knees, chins and accidental falls into the pool. Posting a sign — even at a home pool — isn't a bad idea to serve as a constant reminder.

— Never bring glass bottles or other containers into the pool area. Picnic on paper or plastic plates and drink out of paper or plastic cups or metal cans. Poolside accidents are easier to prevent than to clean up after, especially when they involve broken glass.

— The most important of all swimming rules, even in a private, at-home pool, is don't — if you're alone. Adults as well as children can get cramps, a sudden illness, a faint spell or other unpredictable problem. If help is not available, you may not make it out of the pool, so don't tempt fate.

— Children should never be left unsupervised.

— Don't play with hard or hard-pointed objects in the pool or on the deck. A breeze may inadvertently blow the object into the path of another person, with untoward results.

— Watch carefully when you are out in the sun that you don't become sunburned. A bad burn can keep a person out of the pool for several days, even if it doesn't call for medical treatment. With the variety of tanning agents and sunscreens on the market today, sunburn is easily prevented.

— Be aware of any unusual hazards in the vicinity of your pool, such as steps or overhanging branches, and make note of these to visitors. Most pool stores carry signs listing swimming pool rules and special messages.

— All home pools should be protected by a fence. Even if your town does not require it, you are facing liability for accidents or drownings that occur in an unfenced pool, even if you are not at home.

— Especially if children will be using the pool, a safety rope should be installed to separate deep from shallow water. That way, nobody can get out of his depth by accident.

— Make regular checks of any underwater lighting system, and be certain it meets Underwriters Laboratory standards. Be aware of the hazards posed by all electricity in and around the pool, and remind guests.

— When planting trees or shrubs, keep flowering plants well back from the pool. Flowers attract bees, an unwelcome problem for bathers.

— Every pool should be equipped with a night-light to make people aware that the pool is there.

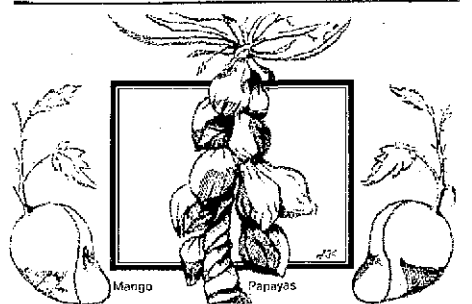

— Don't forget to enjoy. Exercise, relaxation and a good tan are obvious benefits of the pool season. Risks can be minimized by being careful. Happy swimming.

He Who Hesitates Misses A Treat

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Some "ethnic" fresh fruits and vegetables may not be available in your neighborhood. But a little bit of sleuthing in the produce department of your supermarket may turn up at least a few exotic examples.

Sampling the fruits and vegetables favored by people of other nationalities can be a mind-expanding journey — a trip abroad without buying a plane ticket.

Such fruits and vegetables, widely used in Hispanic, West Indian and Central American cultures, translate well to North American usage.

MANGOS: Have been under cultivation for at least 4,000 years and probably originated in the Himalayan region of India and in Burma and Malaysia.

Mangos come in many varieties, and a wide range of sizes and shapes. They're usually eaten raw, but green mangos often go into salsas and preserves. Buy firm mangos and let them ripen at room temperature, until the fruit gives easily to slight pressure. Then refrigerate until ready for use. Don't cut them until they're to be served. Mangos are a fine source of vitamins A and C, as well as potassium, calcium and phosphorus. One three- and one-half ounce edible portion contains 66 calories.

PAPAYAS: Are native to tropical America and are cultivated in Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Florida. The papayas you select should be not green, but at least half yellow. They should be shapely, smooth, unbruised and unbroken, with no signs of shriveling.

JICAMA: Is to Mexico what the potato is to the U.S. A root tuber, it looks like a turnip but tastes like a water chestnut and is a less expensive substitute. Choose jicama as you would a potato, looking for the smaller ones to avoid woodiness. Store them in a cool dry place.

There are two kinds of jicama: aquia, which has a watery juice, and leche, which has a milky juice. The only way to tell the difference is by tasting. To eat a jicama, cut it in thin slices and sprinkle it with sugar.

Early Aging From Sun

Sun-induced aging begins early in life, according to the author of "Ageless Aging." Studies have shown that four out of five teenagers have sun-damaged skin and that the amount of damage increases steadily with age and exposure, even without actual sunburn.

To retard aging of skin, the author, Ruth Winter, recommends keeping out of the sun as much as possible. The sun's rays are strongest between noon and 3 p.m., she states.

Former SJ Resident Is Ann Arbor Exhibitor

John van Amerongen, former St. Joseph resident, now residing in Detroit, will give glass blowing demonstrations at the 18th annual Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, today through Saturday, July 23.

Hours for the event, to be held on South and East University, near the University of Michigan campus, will be from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., today through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John van Amerongen, 2205 Lake View avenue, St. Joseph, the artist is a graduate of St. Joseph high school and the School of Art and Design, Detroit, where he learned the glass blowing trade.

He is owner of a Detroit glass works business and follows art and craft shows throughout the country.

He will be among local, state, national and international artists participating in the show, which is expected to attract over

Wisconsin Art Fair Exhibitors

Two area residents and a former resident were among artists from 18 states and Canada who participated in the Art Fair on the Square in Madison, Wis., July 9-11.

Exhibiting were William R. May, Stevensville; Rick Ott, Baroda, and Kathleen Parr of Chicago, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parr, St. Joseph.

Pair Wed 25 Years

HARTFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Martin K. Cadwell, route 2, Hartford, were honored for their 25th wedding anniversary at a party July 17 at the Sodus Township hall.

Martin K. Cadwell and Mina B. Wycoff were married July 19, 1952, by the late Rev. John S.

Holemb of First Baptist church, Benton Harbor.

The couple has two children, Ann and Paul, both at home.

Cadwell is employed by Benton Harbor Engineering Division of Koehring Company, Benton Harbor.

Lower Cholesterol

— Cholesterol is a fat-like substance which is carried in the blood. It helps produce important body substances.

— Cholesterol tends to deposit on the walls of the arteries with advancing age. The amount of cholesterol in your body is not only controlled by what you eat but it is also produced by the intestinal tract and liver.

— Opinions on the desirable levels of cholesterol vary greatly. The "normal" range is generally regarded as between 170 and 240.

— Genetic factors, eating habits and exercise are considered important in determining cholesterol levels in the body. Saturated fat in the diet is believed to increase cholesterol levels and diets rich in polyunsaturated fats to contribute to reducing them.

— Diet is the first step in cholesterol control. Recommended foods include poultry, fish, lean veal or beef, fruits, vegetables, skim milk, cereals without sugar or shortening.

— Persons with elevated blood lipid levels should also restrict calories to achieve an appropriate weight.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors. Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in 10 days before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

Fresh Blueberries Make Ideal Summer Treats

BLUEBERRY CROWN
One package (three and three-eighths ounces) lemon pudding and pie filling
One package (three ounces) orange gelatin
Two egg yolks
One cup (one-half pint) heavy cream
One cup water
Two egg whites, stiffly beaten
Two cups fresh blueberries, rinsed and drained
One package (three ounces) lady fingers
One can (one pound, five ounces) blueberry pie filling
One-quarter teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg

In a saucepan, combine lemon pudding and orange gelatin. Stir in egg yolks, heavy cream and water. Stir over low heat until mixture bubbles and thickens. Cool to room temperature. Gently fold in beaten egg whites and blueberries.

Split lady fingers and use to line the bottom and sides of a nine-inch pie pan. Pour in pudding mixture. Chill until firm. In a bowl, mix blueberry pie filling, cinnamon and nutmeg. Spread mixture evenly over top. Garnish edges of a circle with rosettes of sweetened whipped cream to resemble a crown. Top each rosette with a fresh blueberry. Chill until ready to serve.

BLUEBERRY CROWN

BLUEBERRY MARSHMALLOW PIE
Three cups fresh blueberries, rinsed and drained
One-half cup sugar
One jar (seven and one-half ounces) marshmallow fluff
One can (thirteen ounces) evaporated milk
One nine-inch pie shell, made of graham cracker crumbs

Mash berries or whirl in blender at low speed until coarsely chopped. Place berries into a large bowl and mix with sugar and marshmallow fluff. Freeze evaporated milk until mushy and then whip with an electric mixer or hand beater until very thick. Fold whipped milk into blueberry mixture. Pile mixture high in pie shell. Freeze until hard. Cover and freeze until needed. Garnish with whipped cream and fresh blueberries. Yield: one nine-inch pie.

FRESH BLUEBERRY CRISP
One-third cup granulated sugar

BLUEBERRY MARSHMALLOW PIE

Two teaspoons all-purpose flour
One-half teaspoon ground cinnamon
Three cups fresh blueberries
One-third cup butter or margarine, Two cups bite size shredded wheat
Confectioners' sugar
Light cream or milk

Blend first three ingredients. Mix lightly with berries in a nine-inch pie plate until blended. Cover with aluminum foil. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 degrees) 30 minutes. Melt butter or margarine in a small skillet. Stir in shredded wheat until well coated. Remove; foil; spread cereal mixture over berries. Bake about 10 minutes or until cereal is crisp. Cool to warm.

Just before serving, sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serve with light cream or milk. Makes five four-ounce servings.

FARMHOUSE FLIM FLAM
One package (eighteen and one-half-ounce) yellow cake mix

Grated rind of one orange
One quart fresh blueberries, rinsed and drained
One cup water
One-half cup sugar
One-third cup cornstarch
Juice of one-half lemon
Two tablespoons butter or margarine

Prepare cake mix according to package directions, adding orange rind to batter. Pour batter into a well greased and floured 11-inch piepan, flange pan or fluted quiche pan. The remaining batter can be baked into cup cakes. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until golden brown. Unmold and place on a rack.

In a saucepan, combine half of the blueberries, water, sugar, cornstarch and lemon juice. Stir over low heat until sauce bubbles and thickens. Stir in butter and remaining berries. Cool and then chill.

Place cake layer on a platter. Mound blueberry mixture on top of cake. Chill until ready to serve. Serve with whipped cream, if desired.

SOUTH HAVEN BLUEBERRY SOUP

One and one-half cups blueberries
Two cups water
One-half cup sugar
One tablespoon lemon juice
One cinnamon stick (two inches)
One-fourth cup corn starch
One-fourth cup water
One-half cup heavy cream, whipped

In medium saucepan, stir together blueberries, water, sugar, lemon juice and cinnamon stick. Bring to boil; reduce heat. Simmer uncovered 15 minutes.

Stir corn starch and water until smooth. Add to blueberry mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to boil; boil one minute. Chill. Serve garnished with a dollop of whipped cream. Makes three and three-fourths cups or six servings.

Blueberry Or Huckleberry? They're Not The Same

"Blueberries as big as the end of your thumb, real sky-blue and heavy." That's the way poet Robert Frost described this great all-American berry.

But he wasn't the first American to discover the delights of our native fruit. Blueberries are indigenous to America. The American Indians marked the beginning of summer with the appearance of the first blueberries, and sundried blueberries formed an important diet component for the Redmen during the winter months.

Today people in the United States and Canada enjoy them all year around — fresh in the summer months and in various processed forms at other times of the year.

Settling the question of what is the difference between blueberries and huckleberries has been a parlor game as all-American as the berries themselves.

It seems the discussions of the relative merits of blueberries and huckleberries hold a strange fascination for conversationalists everywhere.

There is an excellent chance that not one American out of a thousand has ever tasted a true huckleberry. The huckleberry has 10 large, hard, bony seeds which do not miraculously disappear when the berries are baked.

Blueberries on the other hand have 32 to 36 tiny seeds which literally melt in your mouth. The chances are that "old-fashioned" huckleberry pie on the restaurant menu or in the bakery display case was made with wild blueberries just as mom's famous huckleberry pie was. In fact, if Mark Twain had known what he was writing about, Tom Sawyer's best buddy would have been known as Blueberry Finn!

With all the emphasis on convenience foods today, many people don't realize that blueberries are Mother Nature's original convenience food.

There's no peeling, hulling or pitting. Just wash and enjoy them.

Furthermore, blueberries can be home canned or frozen with no loss of flavor.

To home freeze for use all year long, simply put the berries in your favorite size container and freeze. Do not wash before freezing, otherwise they will freeze into one solid lump and get mashed upon thawing. Correctly frozen, dry-pack blueberries should be individually frozen so they pour freely from the container. Wash just before using.

Cultivated blueberries are produced commercially in Michigan, New Jersey, North Carolina, Oregon, Washington State, British Columbia, Georgia and Arkansas. Wild blueberries are commercially produced in Maine, New Hampshire, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Quebec, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island.

Production in North America has more than doubled in the last decade, and today blueberries are the second largest berry crop, second only to strawberries. Its 115,000,000 pound crop generates an annual dollar volume of 60 million dollars.

Although blueberries are found growing on almost every continent throughout the world, successful commercial production is dependent upon specific climatic and soil conditions available in substantial acreage only in the United States and Canada, and this is why blueberries are known as the all-American fruit.

The two prime requisites for growing blueberries are acid soil and plenty of available water.

Blueberries are available year around in processed forms. From the middle of May through the end of September, the large cultivated blueberries are available as fresh fruit.

On taste alone, this berry won a place on America's tables. Yet it is good to know that blueberries have more to offer than the glamour of good looks — or even the epicurean delight of good taste. Of all the berries, blueberries rank first in Vitamin A content and second in food energy. They contain Vitamin C, and contribute significant quantities of calcium, magnesium, phosphorus, potassium and iron to the diet.

Of interest to weight-watchers is the fact that blueberries are low in calories; two-thirds cup contains only 40 calories. In diabetic diets, this amount is equivalent to one fruit exchange.

Summer Coolers

GOLDEN FRUIT COOLER

During the hot summer months, cool drinks are the answer.

GOLDEN FRUIT COOLER
Two oranges, peeled
Two peaches, peeled and quartered
One teaspoon fresh squeezed lemon juice
One pint pineapple or lemon sherbet
One can (twelve-ounce) ginger ale, chilled
Orange chartwheel slices
Fresh mint leaves (optional)
Cut oranges in half lengthwise and with shallow "V" shape cut remove white center core. Cut into large chunks, removing any seeds.

In electric blender, add oranges, peaches and lemon juice; blend until smooth. In four twelve-ounce glasses equally divide fruit mixture, sherbet and ginger ale. Garnish with orange chartwheel and mint. Makes four servings.

FRUIT BOWL FLIP
One and one-half pounds fresh peaches (four to five medium)

sliced
One-half pint strawberries
Two cups cubed pineapple fresh or canned
One pint plain yogurt
Honey to taste
Combine and chill prepared fruits. For each drink: Measure one cup of fruit into blender. Add one-fourth cup yogurt and honey to taste. Blend until smooth. Pour into glasses; serve at once. Makes eight eight-ounce drinks.

FROSTY FRUIT SODA
Three cups pineapple grapefruit juice drink
One cup lime sherbet
One cup ginger ale carbonated soda
Ten ice cubes

Place juice drink, lime sherbet and ginger ale in blender container. Cover and run on high until smooth and well blended. Place ice in two-quart pitcher; add juice drink mix. Chill until ready to serve. Makes five servings.

Detroit Workers End Walkout

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiations between garbage truck drivers and the City of Detroit were to resume today as some 1,300 striking city workers began returning to their jobs for at least a week.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Theodore Bohm got the union leaders and the city to agree to those terms Tuesday during a hearing on the city's request for an injunction to halt the one-day walkout.

Bohm withheld ruling on the injunction until the seven days were up, although he reserved the right to issue an injunction if negotiations failed to produce a contract settlement.

Tuesday's walkout by Teamsters Local 214, including all Detroit garbage truck drivers, left garbage piling up in 97-degree temperatures, closed the Detroit Zoo and gave on-street parkers a ticket-free day.

Local 214 officials said they expected all members back on the job starting with morning shifts today.

It was the second time in two weeks garbage collections had been interrupted.

Refuse pick-up already was behind schedule because there were no refuse collections on the fourth of July and on July 6, when 7,000 city workers, including garbage collectors, belonging to another union staged a one-day strike.

That union, Council 77 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, reached tentative agreement this week on a new contract. A mail ballot ratification vote is being held, with results expected in two to three weeks.

Alvin Johnson, head of the city's solid waste disposal units, had called for residents to bring their garbage to six collection sites.

"We are going to make certain that hospitals and places like that do not have any problems with their garbage collections. We will handle them some way," Johnson had said.

The zoo was closed by a picket line set up by the eight Local 214 members among its 118 employees. Zoo director Dr. James Savoy said more than 75 per cent of his employees honored the Teamsters' picket line. Supervisors were able to keep up with feeding and watering the hundreds of animals Tuesday.

The city's 60 meter maids, also members of the local, wrote no tickets Tuesday. Police spokesmen said patrooling officers were authorized to write tickets, but reportedly few were doing so.

The strike also stopped the city's swimmobiles, portable swimming pools pulled to various neighborhoods on truck trailers.

A small group of pickets marched in front of the city's three bus garages shortly after the walkout began at 1 a.m. Tuesday, but left within a few hours and buses rolled on schedule.

Strikers allowed most city services to be performed by not picketing at the City-County Building, bus garages or other facilities.

The union reported garbage truck drivers had been making $7 an hour under their old contract, which expired some weeks ago. The city's most recent offer of 4 per cent annual increases for the next three years was termed "inadequate" by union officials.

Scientology Church Files Suit In Raids

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Church of Scientology has sued the FBI and two assistant U.S. attorneys for $7.8 million in connection with FBI raids on its Los Angeles church 11 days ago.

The suit, filed Monday in U.S. District Court, also asks that "the FBI be enjoined from any further harassment of the church and from unconstitutional search and seizure," said the Rev. Vaughn Young.

Young said scientologists in Washington, D.C., will also take legal action because of a raid that occurred in the capital on the same day as the two forced entries in Hollywood.

Eavesdropping equipment and burglary tools were taken during the search, as well as hundreds of confidential government documents and evidence that the church seeks to infiltrate the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Service, the FBI said.

A federal court hearing is scheduled for Aug. 8 on the church's motion asking for the return of materials that the FBI FBI agents took in the surprise raids on its Los Angeles headquarters.

Young said the lawsuit asks $1 million dollars in damages plus "wasted time, effort and disruption" that he said was caused at the two church locations — the Fifield Mansion in Hollywood and the old Cedars-Sinai hospital complex.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS!

MUIR'S GENERIC PRESCRIPTION DRUG PROGRAM

Can Save You Up to 50% ON YOUR NEXT PRESCRIPTION

When your doctor prescribes by generic name, we will dispense generic whenever there is a generic equivalent, and pass the savings on to you.

One important difference, however! Muir will fill your generic prescription, in most cases, with brand-name generic drugs from such reputable pharmaceutical houses as Parke-Davis, Smith, Kline & French, Squibb, Lederle, and Bristol Laboratories. And Muir's price will be as low, or lower, than others would charge for non-brand name generics.

So why settle for less? Get top-quality brand-name generic drugs at savings of up to 50% — and have your prescription filled competently by the prescription specialists at Muir — leaders in the pharmacy field for over 55 years!

Freeway Patrol Accord Sought

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislative leaders will convey various proposals on who should patrol city freeways to their rank and file after a meeting with Gov. William Milliken.

Milliken reported "good progress" Tuesday after meeting for 2½ hours with Democratic leaders over whether patrols should be conducted by the state police or sheriff's deputies. But neither the governor nor the lawmakers would discuss what those alternatives are.

"We may find we have a way to break the impasse," Milliken said after the meeting with House Speaker Bobby Crim and Senate Majority Leader William Faust.

The stalemate over freeway patrols has held up passage of the $87 million state police budget for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1. Lawmakers have approved all other major budget bills.

The House voted to remove state troopers from Detroit freeways and replace them with Wayne County sheriff's deputies. The Senate restored the troopers, but voted $4.5 million to nine sheriff's departments across the state.

Milliken had wanted to use that money to provide state police patrols on other city freeways.

The bill wound up in a House-Senate conference committee in the waning days of the legislative session. Several other proposals were considered but none won approval before lawmakers quit for the summer.

Milliken said he will meet again with legislative leaders after they discuss the matter with their colleagues. "One more meeting might do it," he said.

But he said there was no plan to bring the legislature back into session during its summer vacation to approve any agreement.

Patrick Babcock, Milliken's top legislative aide, said the LEAK SITE: Oil leak caused by truck hitting the Alaska pipeline and breaking a valve on the pipeline was plugged Tuesday 23 miles south of Prudhoe Bay. (AP wirephoto) alternatives do not include removing state police from Detroit freeways. He indicated Milliken, who has vowed to veto any bill doing that, has not budged in his position.

Wooden Wedge Plugs Oil Leak

By WARD SIMS
Associated Press Writer

DEADHORSE, Alaska (AP) — Oil is moving again in the trouble-plagued Alaska pipeline after the third shutdown in 16 days. As in the other stoppages, officials blamed "human error."

Repair crews drove a wooden wedge into a 1½-inch vent fitting on a valve Tuesday evening to plug a leak caused when a truck rammed into a section of the 800-mile line. The Interior Department said that more than 200 barrels — 8,400 gallons — had sprayed from the line and cleanup crews were collecting as much of the spilled fuel as possible.

Alaska Pipeline Service Co. refused to allow reporters to visit the scene 23 miles south of Prudhoe Bay. But from a plane flying over the site, it looked like a black and brown fan had spread over about seven acres of tundra. Some oil had reached two nearby lakes, but it was not possible from the air to judge how serious the pollution was.

Oil in the pipeline started moving again at 2:11 EDT, three hours after the repairs were made. An Interior spokesman said the agency did not "require any special approval" before flow was restarted.

Less than 24 hours earlier, the Interior Department had given Alyeska permission to restart the $7.7 billion pipeline following a 10-day shutdown. That had been caused by an explosion that destroyed Pump Station No. 8, and Interior blamed "human error."

The leak was reported at 5:55 p.m. EDT. The truck, a front loader, was helping to bury the valve, which like others along the line was uncovered for the June startup to make it more accessible.

It was the second time in less than a month that a truck had hit a section of the line. The earlier incident involved a section of pipeline with no oil in it.

Edward Patton, Alyeska chief executive officer, said the truck knocked off a small vent on a valve. An Interior spokesman said the line was shut down immediately, but oil already in the pipe sprayed out until the pressure was relieved.

An Alyeska spokeswoman said the 48-inch line was not damaged and the damaged valve fitting was replaced five hours after the leak was reported.

Named And Renamed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has announced the following appointments and reappointments: Appointed: James Yearnd Sr. of Cadillac, Board of Examiners in Mortuary Science; Patricia Cayenborg of Kalamazoo, Water Resources Commission. Reappointed: Wesley Myrlyla of Peikie and Dwight Spuller of Branch, Soil Conservation Committee.

Lutheran Sects Widen Gap

DALLAS (AP) — Action taken by delegates to the biennial convention of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod here will probably lead to a split with its sister denomination, the American Lutheran Church (ALC), according to an ALC official.

"It seems almost inevitable that there will be a total split," said Herb David, a lay official from Minneapolis.

The Missouri Synod convention, which runs through Friday, voted Tuesday to declare a state of "fellowship in protest" with the ALC.

The resolution allows the 2.8 million-member Missouri Synod Lutherans to exchange pulpits with the ALC and participate in ALC communion, but it calls for a panel to report to the next convention for reconsideration of the fellowship status. The two Lutheran bodies entered into fellowship in 1960.

The resolution specifies doctrinal disagreement with the ALC in the areas of scripture interpretation, ordination of women, nature and basis of fellowship and participation in ecumenical functions.

David said the ALC feels there is room for some diversity in fellowship. He noted that ordination of women in the ALC has progressed "quietly" with a minimum of in-house squabbling.

The Missouri Synod calls for agreement in doctrine and practice before it can enter into fellowship, said the Rev. Sam Nasager, executive secretary of the committee that proposed the protest resolution.

However, Dr. Arnold Nickelson, general secretary of the ALC, said his denomination calls only for belief in the Bible and the Lutheran confessions as fellowship prerequisites.

EPA BACKING POSSIBLE

Phosphate Ban Has Ally

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency may back a bill to ban the use of phosphate laundry detergents in states on the Great Lakes, says an agency official.

Carol Finch, head of EPA's Congressional Affairs Division, said Tuesday she and Charles Warren, director of the Office of Legislation, felt there was a strong chance that EPA would eventually endorse such legislation.

But she emphasized that these were personal opinions.

Shore Land Rules Urged

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Near-shore land may have to be regulated separately to protect water from contamination, an official has told the International Joint Commission (IJC).

Murray Johnson, Canadian chairman of the group, said Tuesday that the double standard of land use may have to be set because lands bordering on lakes, rivers, or streams may contribute more to Great Lakes pollution than land farther away from the water.

That may eventually mean stricter regulation of near-shore land use, he said, as well as higher cost for anti-pollution programs for people living near the water.

and said the agency has not taken any formal position on the subject so far.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., has introduced a bill to ban the sale of phosphate detergents in Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Anti-phosphate laws already have been adopted by New York State, Indiana and the City of Chicago.

A similar ban is set to take effect in Michigan this Oct. 1, pending final approval from the state's Natural Resources Commission. The ban would limit the amount of phosphate allowed in laundry detergent to 5 per cent, which scientists say is the minimum practical amount.

The administrative rule barring phosphates in Michigan initially was approved by the commission last February, and then became deadlocked in the legislature's joint administrative rules committee. As a result, the ban is considered approved and now needs only final NRC action to take effect.

EPA's Region Five Office, in the Great Lakes area, and former EPA administrator Russell Train have backed a phosphate ban in the past. But the agency has never formally committed itself to supporting the idea.

The aim would be to reduce the flow of phosphorus into the Great Lakes. Phosphorus acts as a fertilizer, stimulating excessive plant growth which overtaxes the lakes' ability to support life.

That process, called eutrophication, tends to kill off

Begin Formula Proposes Pullout On Two Fronts

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin is proposing Israeli withdrawals on two fronts in his formula aimed at resuming Middle East peace talks, but he and President Carter appear to disagree on how fast to proceed.

Begin and Carter ended their first day of talks Tuesday with a dinner at which they toasted each other with effusive praise. But they left the impression that Carter is determined to make progress toward a Middle East settlement this year, while Begin wants a slower approach.

Shortly after his arrival here, Begin gave Carter a written proposal calling for reconvening talks among Israel, Egypt, Syria and Jordan without preconditions, with the main work to be handled by binational subcommittees, sources said.

The sources said there is no place in Begin's plan for Palestinian Liberation Organization representation at the peace talks.

Begin left the proposal for Carter to study after their first meeting. The Israeli leader called the proposal "a plan for the framework of the peacemaking process" and White House spokesman Jody Powell called it "forward looking and worthy of consideration" by the Arabs.

The sources said Begin is willing to trade large parts of the Golan Heights and Sinai Desert for peace with Syria and Egypt, but opposes withdrawal from the occupied West Bank of the Jordan, offering instead to give the zone's 600,000 Arabs autonomy and tighter links with neighboring Jordan.

The pullbacks from the Golan Heights and the Sinai would be made under conditions providing Israel security against Arab attack.

Israeli state television said Begin also was to tell Carter that Israel is ready for indirect peace talks with the Arabs as a second choice to direct Geneva-style negotiations.

Egypt quickly rejected that idea. The semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram quoted Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy as calling that concept "an Israeli attempt to hinder peace."

The newspaper said Fahmy repeated Egyptian insistence that the Geneva conference reconvene quickly with participation of the PLO.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was said to have sent messages to Carter and other leaders, saying "the current crucial situation in the Middle East cannot tolerate any stalling or Israeli maneuvers."

At Tuesday's state dinner, Carter told guests "there is no way to postpone any longer" the issues requiring a settlement. He said "success this year is going to require a great deal of courage."

Begin has said he will attend a peace conference in October if the Arabs agree, but the Israeli tendency apparently is to draw out the actual exchange of land for peace in order to test Arab intentions.

So, in replying to Carter, Begin stressed that while he recognizes the urgent need for a settlement, "there must be some patience."

Toledo Revamp

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo officials expect private money to pay for 90 per cent of a $500 million dollar revamping of downtown that would transform decaying areas of the business district into tree-lined boulevards, plazas, green space and new buildings.

The plan was created by the Toledo Development Committee formed three years ago to work on downtown revitalization.

Mayor Harry Kessler has estimated it will cost about $500 million.

Psychiatric Tests Slated

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) — A 26-year-old Baldwin man will undergo psychiatric tests after being arraigned on two charges of first-degree murder and one of assault with intent to murder. James Manies stood mute at his Isabella County Circuit Court arraignment Tuesday. He was committed to the state forensic center for tests. No date was set for his court examination. Manies is accused in the deaths of Janet Strong, 55, her son, Eugene, 33, and the wounding of her daughter, Sarah Johnson, 28. Police said the shooting erupted during a family gathering in a mobile home near Baldwin.

Paw Paw School Chiefs Get Hike

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Dr. Norval S. Bovee, school superintendent, and seven other administrators were granted pay raises last night by the Paw Paw school board.

Bovee's salary was raised from $29,750 to $31,832.

New salaries of other administrators, with last year's figure in parentheses, include: Darrrell Crose, administrative assistant, $26,335 ($24,612); Stuart Ellens, high school principal, $25,864 ($24,172); Richard Brill, middle school principal, $23,894 ($22,331); and Dean Wells, community education director, $23,332 ($21,806).

Also, C. William Wilson, elementary principal, $21,441 ($20,038); Andrew Cook, elementary principal, $20,999 ($19,625); and William Carrington, assistant community education director, $20,365 ($19,024).

In approving the salary action, the board also extended Bovee's contract for three years and those of the administrators for two years.

In another salary area, the board granted pay hikes of either seven per cent, or 40 cents per hour, whichever is higher, to eight central office secretaries and bookkeepers.

The board also approved an agreement to rent the parsonage of the old Baptist church on East Michigan avenue from William Hawley to house the district's administrative offices. The agreement runs for one year, with a monthly rental fee of $225.

The board added a clause in the agreement which would allow for a three-month extension of the lease with no rent increase.

The parsonage will be used until the district's new administration building is completed. The board authorized advertising for bids on the foundation of the building last night.

Both the rental agreement and the authorization for bids were passed on 5 to 2 votes, with Kenneth Taylor and Mrs. Lynne Warner voting no in both instances.

Mrs. Warner said that in working to get a recent millage issued passed, she had encountered considerable voter opposition to the administration building. In the case of the rent agreement, she said she did not believe it was a good time to spend the money that way.

Voting for the two motions were Robert LaRue, William Rhodes, Gloria Jean Berry, Patricia McNeil, and Douglas

LEON JAWORSKI
"Tip" Called Him

'KOREAGATE' PROBE CHIEF Jaworski Asked To Serve

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski and at least four others whose work led to the ouster of Richard Nixon from the White House are being considered to lead the investigation of the Korean influence-buying scandal in Congress.

House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill called Jaworski on Tuesday and asked him to take over the chief investigator job in an effort to save the House ethics committee's investigation of the congressional scandal.

O'Neill said he had urged someone "with a national reputation" to take the investigator job left vacant last week when Philip A. Lacovara, a former deputy Watergate prosecutor, resigned.

Although O'Neill did not name the person, a source said he was referring to Jaworski, who now is in private law practice in Houston.

Jaworski refused to come to the door of his home or answer telephone calls Tuesday night.

In addition to Jaworski, O'Neill said five others were contacted about the job. Sources said all or most of the five were active in the Watergate investigation.

The five were reported to include former Watergate prosecutors Archibald Cox and Henry Ruth; Sam Dash, who was chief counsel for the Senate Watergate committee, and John Doar, who was chief investigator for the impeachment inquiry against Nixon.

The House ethics committee, which is in charge of the House investigation of the Korean affair, scheduled a meeting today, its first since Lacovara quit because of a stinging attack by the committee chairman, Rep. John J. Flynt, D-Ga.

O'Neill and leaders of the House investigation announced after an hour-long meeting Tuesday that whoever takes the investigator's job will be given a written guarantee that he will have independent power to conduct the probe. The Justice Department also is conducting an investigation into the allegations that the South Korean government used cash and gifts in an effort to win favorable treatment from members of Congress.

Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., who wanted the committee to try to get Lacovara to take the job back, said he hoped to determine if there is some basic problem that might lead the next chief investigator to quit, too. "There's no point in getting a new man if it's not going to make any difference."

But Democratic House and committee leaders were united in wanting to quickly find a new chief investigator and give him a written guarantee that he will have independent power.

"The new counsel will have total independence for the remainder of the investigation," Flynt promised.

O'Neill said earlier that if the new investigator has trouble with the committee, he can take his case directly to the speaker's office.

In a related development, Republican leaders said they will try to force a House vote on a measure to name a special prosecutor to take over the Justice Department's investigation of the Korean scandal.

It's Getting Better, But...

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans will find improvement in unemployment and inflation next year, although prices still may rise as much as 6.5 per cent, congressional budget experts said today.

The Congressional Budget Office said members of Congress, writing a federal budget for the 1978 fiscal year, must conclude that "the realistic outlook is for no more than a slow unwinding of the current rate of inflation." In testimony prepared for the Senate Budget Committee, budget office director Alice Rivlin said inflation could be held to between 4.5 and 6.5 per cent if increases in food prices do not exceed 6.5 per cent.

The government's most recent figures show an annual inflation rate of 7.2 per cent for this year. Mrs. Rivlin appeared to minimize the chance of reducing inflation by cutting federal spending.

A spending policy tight enough to cut the inflation rate one percentage point would throw one million Americans out of work and raise the unemployment rate, currently 7.1 per cent of the labor force, by 1.2 percentage points, she said. The inflation forecast for the last half of 1977 and all of 1978 is high by historical standards because inflation is becoming a way of life, Mrs. Rivlin said.

"The rapid spread of cost-of-living-adjusted labor contracts, the reflection of inflationary expectations in a broad spectrum of interest rates and the automatic linking of major federal entitlement programs (such as Social Security) to consumer price increases are a few important examples," she said. As the committee began work on writing a budget for the 12 months beginning Oct. 1, Mrs. Rivlin presented these forecasts:

—Growth in the economy, as measured by the Gross National Product: an increase of 5 to 6 per cent from the last quarter of 1976 through the last quarter of 1977, and a rise of 3.6 to 5.1 per cent in 1978.

—Unemployment: 6.6 to 7.2 per cent by the fourth quarter of 1977 and 5.9 to 6.9 per cent by the end of 1978.

—Inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index: up 6 to 7 per cent in 1977 and 4.5 to 6.5 per cent by the end of 1978.

As is usually the case, the Congressional Budget Office forecasts are somewhat less optimistic about the economy than those by the administration. However, no direct comparison with forecasts of President Carter's advisers is possible because the congressional figures do not take into account the President's energy proposals, which include taxes that would go into effect next January. Members of Carter's economic team, testifying before House and Senate budget panels on Tuesday, were optimistic.

Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal said the economy has "good forward momentum, relatively free from imbalances and speculative excesses."

The upsurge is slowing but the administration sees no signs of recession, he said. With good weather and successful labor negotiations, more progress against inflation should be made in 1978, he said.

Bert Lance, director of the Office of Management and Budget, said the Carter administration still expects to balance the federal budget by 1981. But he conceded there is an amount of hope — rather than expectation — in that forecast because of rising deficits.

REINSTATED: China's purged moderate leader Teng Hsiao-ping, 73, has been reinstated in all the Communist party, government and military posts he once held, according to two wall posters that appeared Tuesday, a Japanese report from Peking said. An even bigger poster went up Wednesday, but the other two were taken down. (AP Wirephoto)

Architecture Course Set By Andrews

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Andrews University here has arranged a cooperative architectural program with Lawrence Institute of Technology to provide a five-year course in architecture, according to Dr. Joseph G. Smoot, university president. The program will lead to the bachelor of architecture (BArch) degree.

Under the arrangement a student in architecture will take four years of study at Andrews and receive a bachelor of engineering technology degree with a concentration in architectural engineering technology, then take an additional year of study at Lawrence to complete the BArch degree. Lawrence is located in Southfield, near Detroit.

Students who are interested and qualified may take advantage of an on-the-job training period before completion of the fifth year.

By taking a concentration in architectural drafting technology, after two years a student may receive an associate of industrial technology degree which would qualify him to do drafting work for architects, engineers, and construction related industries.

The program is in response to a recent action of the Board of Higher Education of the Seventh-day Adventist church encouraging Andrews to provide an architectural program in connection with another institution, according to Dr. W. W. Davidson, dean of Andrews' college of technology.

COLLEGES AND COUNTRY: College towns, rivers, farm country and a glimpse of Lake Erie await bicyclists along 134-mile circle tour linking Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Adrian and Monroe. Route passes Eastern Michigan university and goes through University of Michigan campus. Other colleges on route include Adrian and Siena Heights at Adrian. Rest stops, motels and lodges are along way.

If Jimmy Carter and Lenny Brezhnev could only have a heart-to-heart talk, Soviet mistrust of American motives would be dissipated and the two super-powers would go forth, arm in arm, to eliminate evil from the world. This is the essence of a series of messages from Washington, obviously based on background interviews with the President and reflects an extremely dangerous, personalized view of the nature of world politics.

Neither Brezhnev and his Politburo, nor other players on the international scene, change their world views on the basis of affection. You can count on it that if Brezhnev thought it in Soviet interest to have a chat with Mr. Carter, Ambassador Dobrynin would be breaking down the White House door.

But leaving aside relations between Moscow and Washington, how far will the politics of personal trust take you with our allies? A while back the President went to Europe for a summit with the major industrial powers. There was a wonderful picture of him with our friends, all smiling, and the word emerged that Jimmy had captivated the lot, that he had developed "deep personal relationships" with such varied characters as Britain's Jim Callaghan, Germany's Helmut Schmidt, France's Valéry Giscard d'Estaing and even Japan's Takeo Fukuda. A veritable love-fest.

However, recently the news came in with the exception of Callaghan (who has private problems with anti-nuclear elements in the Labor Party), the major European countries joined in a cartel to manufacture and sell breeder reactors. Sharing the President's fears of nuclear proliferation, and supporting his effort to limit the spread of plutonium, this decision profoundly disturbed me. Yet, I was not surprised. France, Germany and the belated countries were simply behaving normally.

President Carter would have anticipated if he really read Reinhold Niebuhr carefully. To expect them to restrain from extremely lucrative business because it would make their friend, Mr. Carter, happy is the ultimate in historical naïveté.

Reward Posted In Slaying

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Ontario Provincial Police are offering a $5,000 reward in the dismemberment slaying of Monica Johnson of Detroit.

Parts of her body were discovered in May strewn across a field in Tilbury East Township near here.

Police said the exact cause of death had not been determined since one of the woman's hands and her torso had not been recovered.

ally, when Nasser blockaded the Strait of Tiran, things seemed to be going perfectly: British Prime Minister Harold Wilson came on like a lion in the House of Commons.

President Johnson's scenario was to organize a multinational naval force to run the Strait, and British participation was fundamental. They had the only naval force in the area — a carrier, frigates, and minesweepers at Aden — and would be at point. Wilson sent an able junior minister, George Thomson, to work out details with Walt Rostow and the Department of Defense.

Various nations agreed to provide ships for a convoy, but then — as the Israelis kept asking what we were going to do while they took our advice to sit tight — things came unglued. Wilson popped in and out of Washington, completely elusive. Then a rather embarrassed Thomson trotted off to the UN to collect signatures on some statement of maritime rights. The British became more and more aloof, and, finally, on June 5, Israel lost patience and took the initiative. Wilson later stated the Labor government never contemplated military action.

So much for the politics of trust. I became a born-again realpolitiker. Not because I admire the position or hold it personally, but because it provides — with rare exceptions — the only sensible way to understand and predict the actions of nations in the international forum.

In short, international politics is not a love affair. Neither is it necessarily a heart-pit. The equilibrium is summarized in the old poker maxim: trust in God, be friendly with the players, but always cut the cards.

Area Native Gets Professor Rank

DAVIS, Calif. — Dr. Otto J. Helweg Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto J. Helweg Sr., of Waterford, has been named an associate professor at the University of California at Davis.

Helweg was cited for innovative instructional methods while earning a reputation in water resources planning, especially in the area of groundwater quality in irrigated areas.

He was recently awarded a $50,000 research grant for a three-year study of the water quality problems in the Tulare Basin, located in the southern portion of California's central valley. The central valley area produces over 30 per cent of the nation's commercial vegetables and over half of the commercial and free output.

Helweg has also published many articles in leading journals and is presently working on a book about water resources planning which is destined both as a text and a reference book on the subject.

A native of Waterford, where he graduated from high school in 1951, Helweg received his bachelor of science degree from

Bike Tour Links College Towns, Port

A 134-mile bicycle tour linking three college towns and a Lake Erie port city passes through rich farmland and along shady small town streets, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The entire trip through Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Adrian and Monroe offers good roads, a variety of rural and urban scenery and interesting stops en route. There are city parks for rest stops along the way, plus motels and Sterling State Park near Monroe for camping.

Cyclists who head north on Huron road at Michigan avenue in Ypsilanti parallel the Huron River. Behind Ypsilanti's city hall and historical museum is Riverside Park, with rest rooms and picnic tables. Eastern Michigan University and Rynearson Stadium are on the right a mile farther along North Huron road.

Watch for Superior street and turn right one mile to Geddes road, which becomes Fuller road after a three-mile stretch along the Huron River. City Park is on the right off Geddes, and Gallup Park and the Nichols Arboretum are across the river, south of Fuller. Cross the Huron River via the Huron Parkway bridge to reach them.

The tour continues west on Fuller and goes north a block on Oakway to combined Glacier Way and Fuller. Take Glen and Catherine streets into downtown Ann Arbor and past the University of Michigan campus. Turn left off Catherine onto Main street to pass the world's largest stadium on the U-M campus. Ann Arbor-Saline road angles off Main street to the right a mile past the stadium and heads out of town.

Points of special interest in Ann Arbor are the Matthaei Botanical Gardens, north of Geddes on Disbrow road, with an indoor garden and displays along outdoor nature trails and the University Exhibit Museum on Washtenaw at North University, where fossils, minerals and wildlife exhibits draw thousands of persons each year.

Adrian is 45 miles from Ann Arbor, via Ann Arbor-Saline road and west another 13 miles through verdant farmland to M-52.

The trip south on M-52 rolls along 23 miles of farms and fields and passes through Manchester. That picturesque town has shady streets old homes and a downtown area with several pre-Civil War buildings. Carr Park, on the River Raisin, is a good spot for a rest or a picnic. Mann's Feed Mill, which still grinds grain using water power from the river, dates from 1832.

Adrian, 20 miles south on M-52, combines agriculture and industry. A General Motors Chevrolet Division plant, a facility of American Churn and Cable and several smaller plants contrast with well-kept farms producing corn and soybeans. Cyclists will find Island and Riverside parks convenient for rest stops.

Adrian College boasts a scenic mall, a 55-bell carillon tower and chapel and walkways to lake cyclists on a tour of the campus.

A 36-mile bike ride from Adrian to Monroe leaves Adrian on Siena Heights drive. Siena Heights College at the edge of town is a Liberal Arts school run by the Dominican Sisters. The Motherhouse of the Adrian Congregation, which is part of the complex, dates from 1886.

Following Oakwood and Laborde roads to Rogers

Highway, just left to Holloway, then right on Holloway to Ridge road for a four-mile ride to join eastbound M-50.

M-50 leads into Monroe, a distance of 24 miles, passing through Dundee. At Dundee, a shady park on the River Raisin with picnic tables is a good place to stop for rest and a snack.

M-50 enters Monroe via Elm street. Cyclists who follow M-50 and North Dixie highway go to State Park Road and Sterling State Park, a 907-acre facility on Lake Erie at the north edge of Monroe, with beach, picnic and overnight camping accommodations.

The Monroe County Historical Museum on South Monroe street in Monroe contains displays of early Frenchtown days, the area's Indian heritage and an extensive exhibit concerning Gen. George Armstrong Custer, a one-time Monroe resident and famed Indian fighter who fought at the Battle of Little Big Horn.

The cycle trip from Monroe back to Ypsilanti covers 38 miles of farm country and passes through the villages of Maybee and Oakville. Leave Monroe on M-123 (Monroe street). Turn left on Stewart to Steffes, jogging right to Blue Bush road.

Beyond Maybee, head north on Palmer Road to connect with Stony Creek Road and Oakville road leading into Oakville. At Oakville, head north on Whitaker road 15 miles to Ypsilanti, connecting with Huron road there.

Bicyclists should pace themselves according to their ability. The League of American Wheelmen estimates the average bicyclist can cover 35 to 50 miles a day with ease. A card and pamphlet containing bicycle safety tips are available free at all Automobile Club of Michigan offices.

Teron Pleads Guilty To Killing Inmate

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

Gregory Teron this morning pleaded guilty to killing Earnie Lee Crane June 25 while both Crane and Teron were prisoners at Berrien county jail.

Teron appeared before Circuit Judge William S. White and pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the strangulation of Crane.

Randy Arnt, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office, said Teron confessed in court that he had killed Crane with a piece of his (Teron's) bedding. Teron, 23, was placed on pre-sentence investigation before he is sentenced by White. Teron also faces sentencing by Judge Julian Hughes for the second degree murder of Mrs. Norma Granow Maxham last Oct. 17 at her Fairplain home where Teron was a roomer.

The conviction for the murder of Crane makes it possible that Teron could receive consecutive sentences. But it is up to the discretion of the judge if a consecutive sentence is imposed for a crime committed in jail.

Crane, 54, of 295 Wells avenue, Benton township, was being held in jail on an open murder charge after his estranged wife, Carolyn, was shot to death June 18 in the parking lot of the Spot tavern, Benton Heights.

Arnt said investigation showed Teron had induced Crane into suicide and Crane was cooperative to a point, then Teron killed him. Teron had been scheduled for a preliminary examination July 26 in Fifth District court. He appeared before Judge Hugh Black this morning waived examination and went into Circuit court before White. Arnt said Teron originally had been charged with first degree murder but that was amended to second degree on his plea.

Crashes Injure Elderly Women

Two elderly women were injured in separate traffic accidents Tuesday, Benton township police reported.

Olga Kramer, 71, of Blazstock road, Bainbridge township, was listed in "stable" condition this morning in Berrien General hospital where she was taken after an 11 a.m. collision at the intersection of Napier avenue and Pipestone road.

Berrien General reported Olga Kramer was admitted for treatment of possible head injuries after emergency room treatment was administered at Benton Harbor Mercy hospital.

Benton township police reported Olga Kramer was injured when the car she was driving collided with a second auto at the intersection, spun around and careened into a light truck in a private driveway.

Officers said driver of the second car, Duane Cowgill, 22, of Don Smith road, Watervliet township, and driver of the truck, Kenneth Daugherty, 32, of 7528 Jericho road, Stevensville, were not injured in the collisions.

Olga Kramer was to be ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way, police said.

Benton township police reported Edith E. Schroeder, 69, of 969 Ouden avenue, Benton Harbor, sought her own treatment for minor injuries sustained in another collision at the intersection of Pipestone and M-139.

Patrolman Roger Spencer said autos driven by Edith Schroeder and George S. Villas, 38, of Chicago, Ill., collided at 12:25 p.m. Tuesday in the east-bound lanes of Pipestone.

He said Edith Schroeder was ticketed for failure to stop in assured clear distance.

Berrien sheriff's deputy Jack Root reported he ticketed William E. Keegstra, 23, of 1459 Miami road, Fairplain, on a charge of careless driving after a one-car, rollover accident on Watson road at Pipestone, Sodus township.

Root said Keegstra sought his own treatment for minor injuries when he lost control of the auto he was driving and the vehicle rolled over at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Fire Destroys Office Building In Coloma Twp.

The office of Dr. William Armstrong and the Lion & The Ram Hair parlor were housed in one of the wood octagonal buildings in the center.

The building is one of seven in the center in Coloma township but flames did not reach any of the other structures.

Fire Chief Leonard Dolezan estimated damage to the structure and contents in excess of $100,000.

The fire was first observed by Kenneth Unruh, Coloma police chief, who noted an orange glow in the sky. Moments later, Coloma township police received a telephone call reporting the fire.

Chief Unruh arrived at the scene and observed fire coming from the back of the building, in the northwest corner, and reaching into the sky from the roof of the structure.

When firemen arrived, fire had totally destroyed the rear portion of the building.

The fire call was received at 1:59 a.m., according to township police, with firemen battling the intense heat and flames until around 3 a.m. Firemen remained at the scene until 5 a.m., completing clean-up operations.

Chief Dolezan and a state fire marshal from Paw Paw will view the fire scene today.

Two firemen, Rudy Appel and Gary Gilpin, received injuries while fighting the fire. Appel received a cut wrist, requiring five stitches to close. He was treated and released from Watervliet Community hospital.

Gilpin was knocked to the ground after a fire nozzle flew off the hose he was holding, with the hose striking him near the left eye. He was expected to be checked for any injuries later today.

Dr. Raulando Fajardo, a Coloma physician, identified as the owner of the center, first learned of the fire at the Tala center while treating Appel, at the hospital where he was on duty.

Dr. Fajardo indicated the building was insured for $50,000.

Dr. Armstrong reported his loss in excess of $30,000, and indicated the contents were insured. Alvin Becker, a co-owner of the Lion & The Ram Hair Parlor, said the contents of the business were insured, but was unable to place a dollar amount on the loss.

Assisting Coloma firemen were several members of the Watervliet fire department. The Watervliet water tanker was called in to supply water to extinguish the fire.

This morning's fire was the second major fire fought by Coloma firemen this year. On March 16, fire leveled the Mr. Pancake House restaurant in Coloma city, with the loss placed at between $100,000 to $150,000.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Man Is Arrested In Wake Of Tip

Benton Harbor police reported a man they found allegedly hiding in weeds in a lot between two buildings on the 200 block of East Main street was charged with a break-in at Barentsen Candy company, 147 Fifth street, early today.

Police said Patrolmen Lloyd Hughes, Dale Easton and Greg Platts said they received a tip that a break-in was in progress at Barentsen Candy company at 1:27 a.m. and saw a man running in an alley near the scene.

Officers reported a man was arrested and alleged loot seized in a lot between 287 and 241 East Main street.

Lodged in the Berrien county jail on a charge of breaking and entering was Timothy Sims, 26, whose address was listed as the 1200 block of Union street, Benton Harbor, officers said.

They said a burglar apparently broke a window and reached through the broken pane to take a coffee maker, blender parts and metal casters.

The following thefts were reported to Benton Harbor police:

—An air conditioner and carpet valued at a total of $275 from the house at 614 Baird street owned by Florine Carr, 202 Lake avenue.

—Watches valued at a total of $198 from Talbot's Drug store, 481 Pipestone street, during an early morning break-in Monday.

—A tape deck-radio combination and two bicycles with a total value of $165 from the home of Erma Tanner, 407 Packard street.

Benton township police reported Keith Brown, of Escanaba, said a CB radio valued at $225 was stolen from his car while the auto was parked at the North Shore Inn, North Shore drive at Higgins Park road, Tuesday.

Betty Lewis, 2237 Lawrence drive, Benton township, told township officers Tuesday three children's books and a gold watch valued at $120 were stolen from her home.

Detoured By Fate

Timmer, and Timmer's nephew, Ricky Ives, 14, of Benzonia, had come in Timmer's car to pick up the Patton sisters and McKay after the truck breakdown.

Benzonia county sheriff's deputies said the Tanner auto was headed west on M-114 toward Frankfort when it appeared to cross over the center line, striking a semi-trailer hauling liquid asphalt head on.

In Bangor, the Patton sisters and Mrs. Tanner lived at 205 Douglas street. McKay lived at 10 Randolph street.

David was born June 22, 1957, in Escanaba, Mich.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Joyce McKay, Bangor; three brothers, Donald, Grand Rapids, Scott and Douglas, both at home; four sisters, Mrs. Kathleen Taylor, Orono, Me., Miss Mary McKay, Warren, Mich., Miss Ann McKay, Kalamazoo and Elizabeth, at home. His father, Donald J. McKay, preceded him in death in 1971.

A prayer service will be held at 8 this evening in the McKane funeral home, Bangor, where friends may call. A funeral mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Thursday in Bangor Sacred Heart Catholic church. Graveside rites will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday in St. Marys cemetery, Hemlock, Mich.

Regina was born May 21, 1962, in Napoleon, Ohio and came to the South Haven area in 1970 with her parents. She was a student at L. C. Mohr high school, South Haven.

Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Lois Patton, South Haven; her father, Lyle Patton, Toledo, Ohio; four brothers, David, Leif, Bear Lake, Mich., Donald and Brent Leffel, Bangor; Michael Patton, Toledo; four sisters, Mrs. Marcella Tanner, Miss Vivian Leffel, Tina and Shelly Patton, all of Bangor; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Durham, Grand Rapids, Ohio; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Henry, Jackson, Ohio.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this forenoon at the Frost funeral home, South Haven.

Handed Jail Term

SOUTH HAVEN — Patrick Valind, 22, of 584 Prospect street, South Haven was sentenced to 90 days in the Van Buren county jail after pleading guilty yesterday in Seventh District court here to a reduced charge of receiving and concealing stolen property under $100.

Valind was arrested by state police troopers from the South Haven post in connection with the possession of guns reported stolen from a South Haven township residence in February, 1975.

Valind had originally been charged with receiving and concealing stolen property over $100.

In another case, Jack Caywood, 39 of South Haven was sentenced to nine days in the county jail and placed on probation for six months after pleading guilty to a charge of assault and battery. Caywood was arrested March 29 in connection with the alleged assault on two South Haven school administrators during a discussion over his son who had been disciplined by school authorities.

Held In Shooting

ADAMSVILLE — Mark S. Haines, 17, route 2, Edwardsburg, was arrested yesterday by Cass county sheriff's officers in connection with an incident in which one person was injured by shots fired at passing cars early Sunday.

Haines was lodged at the Cass county jail and a warrant is being sought for a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder, sheriff's detectives said.

Sheriff's detectives said a gas-powered pellet gun was used to shoot, apparently at random, at cars passing on US-12 near Adamsville, about four miles east of Edwardsburg. A woman passenger in one car was injured when struck by flying glass as the result of the shootings, detectives said.

Dead Woman Was Chicagoan

ALLEGAN — The body of a young woman pulled from Lake Michigan earlier this month as been identified as Miss Doris Pele, 23, of Chicago. According to Allegan county Sheriff Robert Schra, Miss Pele's father said she was last seen June 19 swimming with friends off a boat in Lake Michigan off shore from Chicago. It is believed she may have struck her head on the boat and went under, her father told Schra. The incident was reported to Chicago authorities, Schra said. Her badly decomposed body was found in the lake about seven miles south and four miles offshore from Allegan county. Dr. Laurence LaGatta, deputy Allegan medical examiner ruled her death was by drowning. It is not being considered an Allegan county drowning, Schra said.

Lawmakers Hurried Up And Goofed, Says Byker

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

State Sen. Gary Byker (R-Hudsonville) has described the last few days of the recently adjourned state legislative session as doing more harm than good.

Byker made his remarks during a telephone interview on his assessment of the recent session.

"Up to the last few days it was rather a low key session and not a lot of damage was being done."

"But the last few days, we did more harm than good," the 23rd district senator commented.

He said that in those final days legislators were not given enough time to study bills presented to them.

Besides the hasty passage of bills, one of those areas where "harm" was done, Byker said, was action which prevented the state personal income tax from being rolled back from 4.6 to 4.4 per cent. He said the move will add another $90 million to state coffers, which will only act to fuel inflation.

One of the "good things" the legislature did, according to Byker, was failing to pass Senate Bill 714, which would extend unemployment benefits to non-certified school personnel during the summer and other vacation periods.

Statewide, he said, the bill would cost schools $70 million. In Benton Harbor alone, the

"The thing about it is that the people it would benefit didn't even ask for it. Ninety per cent of them don't want to work in the summer anyway."

The senator added that he expects a renewed push for the bill when the legislature reconvenes this fall.

Another measure which will come before lawmakers is a bill to permit the teaching of birth control in schools, which Byker said he opposes. He said schools are supposed to be "neutral in terms of morals and scriptural values" and should confine their teaching "solely to academic and vocational" areas.

Byker said that because school attendance is compulsory, birth control teaching would place unfair pressures on Christian parents who did not wish their children to participate.

He called the state's budget for the next fiscal year "fairly responsible" but said he was disturbed about a $151 million increase in K-12 state aid. Coupled with a $112 million increase in the taxable value of property, Byker said schools will be gaining an additional $263 million, even though statewide enrollment will drop by some 50,000 students.

Byker called a bill aimed at reducing the allowable level of the toxic fire retardant PBB "nothing but a public relations stunt."

He said that even Dr. Howard Tanner, director of the state Department of Natural Resources, has admitted the PBB problem is long past, and that he (Byker) could not justify spending any more money, except perhaps to monitor its health effects.

Dad Pays To Avoid Jail Stay

A father behind in his child support payments paid his way out of jail this week by coming up with $300 after he had been sentenced in Berrien Circuit court to 30 days in jail.

Joseph Beckmann, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, said Larry D. Herzog, of 3431 Cedar lane, Bridgman, paid $300 towards an arrearage of $1,132 for two children not on ADC, and was released.

Judge Zoe S. Burkholz had found Herzog in contempt of court for the arrearage, and ordered him to begin a two-year probation with the 30-day jail term. She also ordered Herzog to sign a wage assignment of $18 weekly support and $5 per week on the arrears.

Judge Burkholz also sentenced James Ingelright, of Berrien Springs, to two years probation for $600 arrears for two children not on ADC. Beckmann reported, Ingelright paid $100 towards the arrearage and was ordered to pay another $200 by Friday, and was told to pay $60 weekly support and $10 a week on the arrears.

South Haven Schools Call 'Lost' Mill Vote

By TOM RENNER

South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — A special election seeking South Haven school district voter approval of a one-mill increase in the voted operational property tax millage rate was scheduled for Sept. 12 by the board of education last night the South Haven.

The move was described as an attempt to offset an anticipated reduction by the state in the school system's non-voted tax rate.

Both the South Haven and Gobles school districts face the prospect of losing one mill of a 9.58 non-voted tax rate they receive for operation under a ruling expected to be handed down by the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

Tribunal members during a hearing in Lansing Monday said that taxpayers in South Haven and Gobles district are being assessed at a 16-mill non-voted rate, one more than the statutory maximum of 15. The practice is known as "split" or differential millage.

South Haven and Gobles have been receiving 9.58 mills, one more mill than the rest of the county's school systems, because both are city districts serving bi-county areas.

The tribunal in a similar case in Bay City last year ruled that the 15-mill limitation cannot be exceeded in townships.

The tribunal's ruling is expected in a case brought before it by 15 of the county's 18 townships.

The special election Sept. 12 will seek approval of a one mill increase on state equalized valuation for operational purposes for a three-year period. Supt. Harold Gaarde stressed last night that the total millage levy would remain at 23.08 and that only the breakdown of voted and non-voted would be affected.

Gaarde said that loss of the mill would mean a reduction in revenue of $150,000 next year. The consists of $70,000 from local taxation and $80,000 in state aid.

"It is time to clear the record regardless of the action by the tribunal," said Gaarde.

The tribunal is expected to tell the Gobles and South Haven systems that they may levy the extra mill to city taxpayers but not township property owners. Because cities do not pay the one-mill township tax, they pay one mill less than the townships within the 15-mill statutory limit for nonvoted taxes. Summer taxes assessed by cities for their own operations are considered to be outside the 15-mill limit.

However, South Haven school board members last night said they would oppose any notion of having different millage rates for governmental units within the school system.

"The main point we want to stress is that this will not increase the tax bill," said board president Donald Dempster. "This will assure an equal tax rate throughout the school system."

School board members said that regardless of the action by the tribunal they intend to seek the extra voted mill so that the non-voted mill allocated by the county can be permanently eliminated.

In other matters, the board approved switching Edward Bocock and Miss Mary Wiacek as principals of the Lincoln and Central elementary schools.

Bocock has been employed by the South Haven system for 13 years, the last 11 as principal at Lincoln. Miss Wiacek has worked in the South Haven system 15 years, the past two and one-half years as principal at Central.

Gaarde said the switch was being made "on the theory that principals gain new insights, and staffs and programs sometimes benefit from different ideas from a new building leader."

The board adopted a tentative calendar for the upcoming school year, noting it is still a negotiable item in contract talks with the South Haven Education Association.

The calendar calls for the first day of classes to be Friday, Sept. 2. Christmas vacation would be from Dec. 23 to Jan. 4

EDWARD BOCOCK Transferred to Central and spring break from March 21 to April 3.

Gaarde announced it appears the school system will receive approximately $263,000 in federal public works funds and that the money will be designated for planned renovation of the Central school auditorium and an addition to the Central school kitchen.

The board had already authorized the expenditure of general fund reserves for the work, but that money will be designated for other capital needs, school officials said.

The board noted that the tax rate for debt retirement this year will be .44 of a mill. Last year there was no debt retirement millage because the school system was able to meet its obligations by using its reserves.

The board expressed its appreciation to the South Haven Rotary club for pledging $4,000 toward new electronic timing equipment at the high school swimming pool.

A new policy which proposes disciplining athletes who take team equipment such as uniforms without permission was introduced.

The board expressed its opposition to a proposed state law that would make non-professional school employees such as bus drivers, teacher aides and cooks eligible for unemployment compensation when school is not in session. Gaarde estimated it would cost the South Haven system from $70,000 to $80,000 per year if the legislation is approved.

The board authorized entering into negotiations with James Weinert of 450 Bailey avenue, for an exchange of property near the Ratcliffe athletic field. The school system has asked the city of South Haven to abandon a portion of Michigan avenue to allow expansion of the athletic field. However, city officials have delayed consideration of the request until the school board and Weinert reach agreement on a land swap. Weinert claims that some of his property would become landlocked if the vacation were to occur without an exchange of land.

Township Hall Grant Awarded

HARTFORD — Hartford township has been awarded a $181,000 federal grant for construction of a new township hall and utility building, according to Donald Drake, township supervisor.

Drake said the township was notified by Congressman Dave Stockman's office that the grant had been approved and confirmation of its approval was received by Leslie Cripps from the Commerce department's Economic Development Administration regional office in Chicago.

Cripps & Associates, Berrien Springs financial consultants, handled the township's initial application for funding.

The township plans to construct the hall and utility building on land it owns between Hartford city limits and 1-94 west of CR-687, south of the township cemetery.

Cripps said construction should be able to get underway yet this summer.

She Left Strict Orders

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — It was a special kind of love story. Emma and Azarie Hamel met while they were working at a cotton mill in Lowell, Mass. They were married on July 13, 1897. The marriage lasted longer than any in Michigan. They had a lot to celebrate at their 80th anniversary last Wednesday. Together they rejoiced at their 17 children, 28 grandchildren, 78 great-grandchildren and 14 great-great-grandchildren. Just before a scheduled party for family and friends, Mrs. Hamel became ill. So instead of a large party, the 97-year-old woman and her 100-year-old husband shared a small cake at her hospital bedside. Mrs. Hamel died Friday, with Azarie at her side. But she left strict orders that the planned anniversary party was to go on without her. Immediately after her funeral Monday at St. Anne's Church, the anniversary celebration began.

It'll Be Cooler, But For One Day Only

By JERRY KRIEGER

Paw Paw Features Editor
AND ASSOCIATED PRESS
Relief from the sweltering July heat wave is expected to push into southwestern Michigan sometime tonight, bringing temperatures in the 60s tonight and in the 80s for tomorrow.

But the cooler air may only be for the one-day variety. The National Weather Service forecasts increasing temperatures again Friday.

The mercury soared well into the 90s—and on up over 100 in the sun—throughout southwestern Michigan yesterday. Starting at a high of 92 in Benton Harbor, the temperatures graded up to 98 degrees inland at the Paw Paw village public works recording station.

It was the 10th day of 90 or higher temperatures at Paw Paw this month, and the sixth such day at both the Sodus Experiment Farm, which recorded its season high of 95 yesterday, and at the Rex Paul farm at Glendora, where a 94 was reported yesterday.

Reports from various sources in the area showed readings from 102 to 110 in the direct sun.

Michigan's hottest official reading yesterday was 104 degrees recorded in the Upper Peninsula at the Marquette airport. It broke a 60-year high of 97 degrees there. Other hot spots in the state were at Battle Creek and Mio, which each recorded 102 temperatures. Detroit reported a high of 97.

In Davenport, Iowa, a young mother watched her four children — ages 2 to 10 — drown in the Mississippi River on Tuesday as they sought relief from the heat. Ruth Triplett, 27, who cannot swim, was helpless.

And in St. Louis officials blamed the heat for the deaths of nine persons over the past two days. Four elderly people from the same apartment building died on Monday. On Tuesday five other deaths in the area were attributed to the heat wave.

New York City recorded a temperature of 102, a record for the day. Lamar, Colo., reported a high of 105. The thermometer reached 97 at the Baltimore-Washington International Airport, tying the record for the day.

In Maryland, Young D. Hance, the state agriculture secretary, said crops in several parts of the state are showing signs of damage from the prolonged spell of heat and no rain. Cantaloupe, tomato and cucumber crops as well as pasture land are threatened. Delaware, Virginia, Iowa and Indiana were among the other states reporting problems with crops and livestock.

In Baltimore an air pollution alert continued for a fifth day today and some industries were cutting production to reduce pollution. Air pollution alerts also were on in parts of Kentucky, Ohio, Minnesota, New York and Massachusetts.

Electric utilities continued to report high levels of consumption with air conditioners turned on in stores, offices, factories and homes. In Minnesota, customers of several utilities were asked to cut back use of appliances. There were scattered power outages in Colorado, Ohio, New York and Massachusetts.

The hot weather caused inner city residents to turn on fire hydrants and in Philadelphia, New York and other Eastern cities, police were trying to get citizens to use hydrant caps that slow the flow of water. A second-stage water alert was declared in New York, meaning that lawn sprinkling and the washing of cars and sidewalks was out.

Indiana officials warned motorists that the heat was causing many highways to buckle. One official said Indiana highway crews have had more work "in this hot spell than in the last two years put together."

HALL ADDITION BEGUN: Buchanan township officials yesterday held ceremonial ground breaking for new addition to township hall. On hand for ceremony were, from left, Dale Layman, foreman for Building Constructors, Inc., St. Joseph; Al Vissers, secretary-treasurer for firm; Ruth Rose, township treasurer; Paul Spaulding, township trustee; William McIntosh, building inspector; Donna

Newsom, township clerk; Norman Kellog, architect, and Kenneth Jones, township supervisor. St. Joseph firm has $46,000 contract to build 30 by 47-foot addition. Jones said it is hoped addition will be ready for use by October. Present hall will be used for offices, while addition will house meeting room. (Staff photo)

If It's Bad For Animals, It's Bad For People, Too

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — A Calhoun County mental health expert says that when the weather is hot and sticky enough for livestock warnings to be issued, somebody ought to issue a people warning, too.

Thomas Ross, clinical director of the Calhoun County Community Mental Health Services, says his agency has seen a dramatic increase in the number of persons calling its crisis intervention line since the hot spell began early this month.

"The heat magnifies and intensifies whatever problems a person already has," said Thomas. "Heat doesn't necessarily produce depression or aggression, but it adds more stress to the situation."

The crisis line calls have involved all kinds of problems, from marriage and family troubles to job problems and calls from people contemplating suicide, he said.

Thomas said the summer's heat isolates people just as much as last winter's severe cold. "The hot weather may be keeping people inside and closed up together. They need more life space," he said.

Sutton MVP In 7-5 NL Victory

Palmer And AL Pounded

NEW YORK (AP) — "What do you say to that?" Jim Palmer sighed ... and Billy Martin could do nothing more than give Baltimore's ace pitcher a shrug and the book.

Palmer wasn't out there all that long Tuesday night, but it must have seemed more like a sentence than an honor. It didn't take the National League more than a few flicks of the wrist to tuck him and the rest of the American League into losers once again with a 7-5 All-Star game triumph.

According to the box score, Palmer lasted two full innings of the carnage at Yankee Stadium that gave the Nationals their sixth straight victory and hit in the last 15 of these mid-season classics. But officially he made it into the third inning before Martin, the manager of the New York Yankees and the American League stars, fringed to the mound and mercifully removed Palmer.

That was only moments after Steve Garvey of Los Angeles unloaded a mammoth home run into the American League bullpen in left-center field to give the Nationals a 5-0 lead ... which was two innings after Philadelphia's Greg Luzinski bashed a two-run homer to right field to make it 4-0 in the first frame ... which was a minute or two after Dave Parker of Pittsburgh and George Foster of Cincinnati doubled for the inning's second run ... which was two batters after leadoff batter Joe Morgan of Cincinnati started it all with a towering homer into the right field seats.

Needless to say, the rest of the game was almost anticlimactic. Oh, the Americans did make some noise. Richie Zisk of the Chicago White Sox (and a National League until this Year of the Free Agent) doubled home two runs off Cincinnati's Tom Seaver in the sixth inning. Willie Randolph of the Yankees stunted for another run off him in the seventh and George Scott hit a two-run homer in the ninth.

That first-inning outburst, Parker's homer in the third and what turned out to be a game-winning two-run single by San Diego's Dave Winfield off Yankee reliever Sparky Lyle made Don Sutton of Los Angeles a winner of the game and of the game's Most Valuable Player Award.

"Making the All-Star team is a thrill, to put it simply," the Dodgers' ace right-hander said after silencing the AL bats on just one hit and striking out four batters in his three-inning starting stint. "It's something you can't control, being named a member of the All-Star team. I was overjoyed when it happened."

Then, when Sparky (Anderson, the manager of the world champion Reds and the National League stars) sent word along that I would be the starter — and in Yankee Stadium — I almost didn't believe it."

For his part, Palmer was the master of the understatement. "I guess you can say I didn't pitch very well," he observed after the five-run raking, the first time he'd been scored upon following eight shutout innings of three-hit All-Star hurling.

Morgan, who started it all with his homer about a half-dozen rows into the right-field seats, seemed to be saying it wouldn't have mattered if Cy Young himself had been out there pitching for the Americans.

Both he and Luzinski, who punched his homer a little deeper into those stands beyond Reggie Jackson's reach, said Palmer's inability to get the curve ball working was the deciding factor.

Seaver, making his first appearance in New York since being traded to Cincinnati by the New York Mets barely a month ago, received a tumultuous ovation when he was introduced, a thunderous greeting far exceeding even those for two of New York's other superstars, Willie Mays and Joe DiMaggio.

When someone wondered if he was disappointed in the way he pitched in his comeback appearance, Seaver let loose with one of his familiar cackles and said: "What was wrong with the way I pitched? Nobody got hurt. Did they?"

No, although Seaver himself nearly became a casualty during his two-inning, four-hit, three-run appearance.

After Minnesota's Rod Carew buzzed a pitch past Seaver's hip for a leadoff single in the sixth, Randolph sent another screamer back to the mound. Seaver managed to knock this down with his glove and wrist.

"I couldn't get the first one and the second one darn near killed me," he joked.

Seaver was the only NL pitcher roughed up by the Americans. Sutton, San Francisco's Gary Lavelle, Chicago's Rick Henschel and Pittsburgh's Rich Gossage each gave up one hit.

While Cleveland's Jim Kern and Dennis Eckersley, Dave LaRoche of California and Boston's Bill Campbell all silenced the Nationals, Palmer (five hits and five runs) and Lyle (three hits and two runs) absorbed virtually all the punishment the senior circuit had to offer.

NL Mastery
No Mystery

NEW YORK (AP) — The National League's mastery of the American in All-Star competition is no mystery to Joe Morgan.

"We've got the better players," said the second baseman of the Cincinnati Reds. "It's that simple."

Morgan made his point perfectly clear Tuesday night by starting out the 48th All-Star game with a home run off Jim Palmer. The bombarding continued and didn't let up until the Nationals had a 7-5 victory, their sixth straight and 14th in the last 15 games.

"The score wasn't that indicative of the closeness of the game," said Morgan. "I mean, one would think that a 7-5 game was close. But, they never really were in the game. An error, a few hits here and there and they finally ended up 7-5. But they were playing catch-up the whole game and never really caught up." Reflecting a view held by many of the National League, Morgan underscored the older league's top-to-bottom superiority.

"Our lineup is just awesome," said Morgan. "After me, I look up and down the lineup and say, 'There's just no way the American League can beat us.'"

A quick start helped the National League Tuesday night. Traditionally, it has been that way as far back as Morgan can remember.

Along with Morgan, Greg Luzinski and Steve Garvey were mostly responsible for a 5-0 National League lead after three innings. Luzinski, the Philadelphia Phillies' bull-shouldered outfielder, capped a four-run first inning with a two-run homer and Garvey of Los Angeles hit a solo homer in the third. Both came off Palmer, considered by many to be the American League's best pitcher.

When the Baltimore ace did manage to locate his pitches where he wanted them, Luzinski and Garvey lunched them over the fences.

Luzinski's homer was an electric shock to the American League-oriented crowd of 50,681, but an electric charge to the Philadelphia outfielder. It was his first at Yankee Stadium, a historic park he reveres.

"To be in Yankee Stadium, with all you hear about it, is like being in a World Series for me," said Luzinski. "It was a big thrill to be able to hit a home run in my first time at bat in this stadium."

Later, Garvey hit a ferocious shot that left the park in a hurry at the 430-foot mark. The Dodger first baseman had expressed an uncomfortable feeling about hitting against American League pitching because of unfamiliarity, but quickly got acquainted with a Palmer fastball.

American Leaguers Use
Wrong Game Plan Again

NEW YORK (AP) — As usual, the American League had the wrong game plan.

"We thought that if we held them close early we'd have a good chance to win," said Boston's Carlton Fisk, the AL's starting catcher in Tuesday night's All-Star Game.

Either Fisk was calling for the wrong pitches or starting pitcher Jim Palmer of Baltimore was throwing the wrong ones: Cincinnati's Joe Morgan, the game's first batter, lofted Palmer's sixth pitch into Yankee Stadium's right-field seats.

After Steve Garvey of Los Angeles struck out, Pittsburgh's Dave Parker singled, Cincinnati's George Foster doubled him home and Philadelphia's Greg Luzinski hit a two-run homer. Before they ever came to bat, the American Leaguers were behind 4-0.

"It was a little depressing," said Boston outfielder Fred Lynn, "but we had a lot of good players. We knew we could come back and score some runs."

Not enough, however.

"It was quick, wasn't it?" Boston outfielder Carl Yastrzemski said of the NL's fast getaway.

"You'd like to be able to manage, to do something," said AL pilot Billy Martin of the New York Yankees, "but after that first inning I didn't have the opportunity. When you're down 5-0 and your first baseman plays well off the bag with a fast runner on base, does that tell you something?"

"Palmer was throwing well but Jeff (batting practice catcher Jeff Torborg) said he didn't have a good slider. We thought he was going to be all right, but he hung two sliders for home runs in the first inning."

"Obviously you don't like to get your club off to a bad start," said Palmer. "I wish I could have kept it closer. I pitched badly. Give credit to them, because I didn't make very many good pitches."

"I can't blame the mound. The homers by Morgan and Luzinski were on high sliders. They were just bad pitches. It wasn't the normal Jim Palmer, was it?"

No, but it was the normal outcome for the frustrated American League.

Enthusiasm Keys 22-6 Mark

Enthusiasm! That one ingredient may be the big difference in this year's Bargain Center girls softball team.

"We've tried to make enthusiasm something that has developed during the past year or so," Bargain Center coach Liz Miller says. "The team does stay up. This is the first year that we've had a total team effort to keep up."

And it's paying off. Bargain Center is leading the Plangger's Girls Softball League with a 7-1 record and stands 5-5 in the powerful 1-94 Travel League. Overall, Bargain Center sports a 22-6 record, much improved over last year's initial season.

Miller, who also coaches at Lake Michigan College, gives much of the credit to her veteran standouts Deb Schmid and Jill Claeys.

"Deb started out sort of bashful and quiet," Miller says. "She never expressed herself when she first started playing last year."

"Now it's tough to keep her down. She's probably the most well liked player on the team. She really puts everything into the game and really enjoys it."

"Jill puts more enthusiasm and desire into the game this year, but she has always had it."

Schmid, a pint-sized 5-foot-4, not only leads the team with her desire but also by example. A former Lake Michigan Catholic and Lake Michigan College standout, Schmid is the team's top hitter (.558) and plays a near-perfect third base defensively.

"I could write a book on Deb," Miller explains. "I had her in college for two years and you could never ask for a better team player. She's a very coachable person. And when the pressure is on, Deb will come through."

Claeys directs the team from behind the plate, handling Bargain Center's catching chores. Also a former Lake Michigan Catholic and LMC star, Claeys is batting .390.

"Jill really keeps the team moving," Miller says. "She never lets anyone let up."

Both girls have reasons for their enthusiasm.

"I've got to keep everyone up," Schmid says. "It relaxes everyone and seems to pull us out of a lot of bad situations."

Claeys adds, "The team is here to play this year. It's very enjoyable and everyone is having a good time. There are no personal conflicts which is a very unique situation. I think when we got in the 1-94 League, it opened our eyes to softball."

With Schmid and Claeys leading the way, Bargain Center has become one big happy family.

"The big thing is that they're a team not only on the field, but everywhere," Miller says. "They like to do everything together as a group."

"We had a team canoe trip last year and we're going to have another one at the end of the month. The whole team is involved in it. They really stick together."

"We know when we begin to play a game that we're not going to have to worry about everyone squabbling or getting on each other's backs. What makes it fun is that even when they lose, they don't give up and walk away. They come back hard."

The team actually began to form three years ago when most of Miller's LMC team wanted to continue playing during the summer.

Last year Miller actually organized things and got the squad into the travel league. The girls have taken it from there.

Besides Schmid, five other regulars are batting better than .400, including infielders Kris Stover of Eau Claire (.476) and Jackie Johnson (.457) and outfielders Jodi Rabbers of Lakeshore (.415) and Kim Doty of Niles (.426, 4 homers, 22 runs batted in). Johnson is a teammate of Rabbers from Grand Valley.

Former Berrien Springs firehopper Chana Smith (.409) is the team's ace hurler.

Lori Casey, Buchanan's girls

coach, patrols the other outfield slot. Though hitting just .274, Casey has reached base more than half of the time through walks and errors.

Patience Vanderbush of Buchanan (.370) and Beth Reum of Berrien Springs (.310) round out the starting lineup at shortstop and first base, respectively.

"The first two years it was a really fun group," Miller says. "Now they're still having fun, but they're out to do their job, too. We stress team work and try to help each other out."

St. Joe, Dowagiac Battling For Title

St. Joe Legion and Dowagiac will put their Blue Division Legion title hopes on the line tonight.

The two collide in a key doubleheader at 6 p.m. at Riverview Park.

St. Joe crept to within a half game of Dowagiac in the league standings by downing Baroda twice Tuesday 6-1 and 10-0. Dowagiac, meanwhile, was upset by Three Oaks 4-2 in eight innings.

Dowagiac will take a 15-2 Blue Division record into the twin bill, while St. Joe stands 15-3.

In other Blue-Gray action Tuesday, Niles stayed on top of the Gray Division with a 14-0 win over Berrien Springs. Stevensville won a doubleheader forfeit win over the St. Joe Reds.

"The kids are very eager to face Dowagiac," St. Joe coach Mike Wyngarden said of his team. "The kids are really looking forward to tonight's ballgame. It will give them an opportunity to meet Dowagiac head on and that's the way they want it. We'll be ready."

And St. Joe was certainly ready for Baroda Tuesday night. Paul Knuth and Bob Rothel combined for a four-hitter in the first game and Ron Hollis tossed a two-hitter in the nightcap, called after five innings by the 10-run rule.

Mike Collier collected two hits in each game for St. Joe. Steve Lampman had two hits in the opener and drove in three runs in the nightcap with a single and a sacrifice fly.

Steve Ross slammed three doubles and a single and drove in two runs to highlight the second game rout. Carey Ross and Hollis also had two hits apiece.

It was just a case of too much Busse for Dowagiac. Dennis Busse struck out 16 and gave up just five hits in the Three Oaks upset victory.

Larry McLaughlin was the hard luck loser for Dowagiac. McLaughlin also yielded just five hits, while fanning 12 and walking just one.

Jeff Nate gave Dowagiac a quick lead with a two-run homer in the first inning. Three Oaks, now 13-7, came back with an unearned run in the second and tied the game in the sixth.

Dave Zebell singled, went to second on a ground out and scored on Rich Shail's two-out single.

Busse proceeded to win his own game in the eighth. After Dave Hampton singled, Busse belted a triple to score the lead run and then crossed the plate himself on a throwing error.

Jim Waalkes was the only player on either team with more than one hit, collecting two singles.

Bart Hatch hurled a two-hitter as Niles upped its Gray Division record 12-3. South Haven (12-4) and Stevensville (11-6) still entertain title hopes.

Don Gwin was the big gun for Niles, driving in five runs with a three-run homer and a triple. Joe Driebelbis also clouted a three-run homer for the winners.

Point's Ninth Hole Favorite Of Western Am Golfers

What's your favorite hole at Point O' Woods?

The most common response from spectators who have watched the Western Amateur golf tournament during the eight years it has been played at the challenging Robert Trent Jones course probably would be the ninth hole — the scenic and treacherous par-3 that requires a 200-yard tee shot entirely across water.

Their reasons range from the admission by 1962 Western Amateur champion Art Hudnall "because it terrifies me so" to an eloquent description by 1975 U.S. Amateur champion Fred Ridley.

"I think this is my favorite hole on ANY golf course," he says. "Aesthetically, it is one of the most beautiful holes I have ever played. I like it because it requires a precise shot, yet the golfer does have a relatively safe 'out' if he goes to the right. But such a shot is likely to produce a 4."

"Another reason I like the hole is that it puts a premium on hitting the shot the correct distance, since the green in any given section is relatively shallow. One of the great par-3 holes anywhere."

It is a hole that sticks in a golfer's mind — even a golfer like Tom Watson, the current Masters and British Open champion who has played on courses around the world.

"I can't remember if the number is right," Watson says after selecting the ninth as his favorite, "but I do remember don't be short...or right...or left...or over."

Those who believe golfers are interested only in their scores might take note of some of the other responses from players who selected the ninth hole as

"It is a very pretty hole from the tee," says Oklahoma State All-American Lindy Miller, one of the pre-tournament favorites this year.

"It is the most beautiful inland hole I have ever played," says Gary Koch, former University of Florida All-American and now a touring pro.

"Just a beautiful hole to look at," says 1971 Western Amateur champion Andy Simpson, who also admits "sweet memories made when birdied."

The appeal of the hole

perhaps best summed up by Arizona State All-American Bill Loeffler, who says "the character of the hole is such that it intimidates a golfer to extremes. I can't wait to play it again."

Of course there are dissenters to this majority opinion, with the second, eighth and 18th holes drawing solid blues of support.

The second hole, which can be played as either a par-4 or par-5 gets the votes of NCAA champion Scott Simpson, 1976 U.S. Open champion Jerry Pate and 1975 Western Amateur runner-up Randy Simmons, among others.

Among those favoring the eighth hole — the shortest par-4 on the course — is 1974 U.S. Amateur champion Craig Stadler, one of the longest hitters to play in the Western Amateur in recent years. He admits he was often tempted to go for the green with a driver off the tee...but he never did.

Bob E. Smith, the 1965 Western Amateur champion, says his favorite hole "has to be" the 18th...with good reason. It was there he hit a dramatic one-iron shot over the water, and onto the green to win the hole and send the chamionship match into sudden death.

Former Texas All-American Tom Kite votes for the 18th "because it was the last on a course that beat everyone," but 1974 runner-up Jay Haas puts it even more succinctly.

"It is so damn tough," Other holes, of course, also are favorites of Western Amateur contestants...sometimes for opposite reasons.

Former Oklahoma State All-American Danny Edwards picks the 17th "because I won it in every match" while former Wake Forest All-American Bob Byman — medalist in the past two Western Amateurs — selects the demanding 18th, noting that "in the matches that I lost, it was the hole that killed me."

But it is the ninth hole that produces the most awe, the most memories and some of the best stories.

When asked by his fellow contestants four years ago how he measured the distance from the tee to the pin on the ninth hole, George (Mad Mapper) Haines had the perfect reply.

"I counted Ben Crenshaw's steps as he walked across the water."

AL Almost Spoils Seaver Fairy Tale

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — The thundering, three-minute ovation from more than 50,000 throats was music to the ears of Tom Seaver, the prodigal son who came home for just a night. The sound drowned out the cracking bats of the rival American Leaguers, who almost turned the fairy tale into disaster.

"It was beautiful," said the million-dollar New York Mets discard, basking in the warmth of a 7-5 National League All-Star victory in which his greatest contribution was for the other side. "I really appreciated it. The only thing I could do was to stand there and enjoy it."

Baseball may be the great national pastime but it writes a lousy script. You don't have to be out of Hollywood to know that the story of the 48th baseball All-Star game could have had a mellower ending for the ham-dome pitching hero now of the Cincinnati Reds, who is better known as "Tom Terrific."

Seaver pitched 10 years and change for the Mets, winning more than 180 games, capturing three Cy Young Awards and establishing himself as the recognized No. 1 pitcher in the game.

Then he crossed swords with the Mets' management, particularly Chairman of the Board M. Donald Grant. An ugly name-calling scene ensued.

In June, he was dealt to the Cincinnati Reds in a deal that rocked the sport's delicate foundations.

The 48th All-Star Game marked his first appearance before a New York audience in the red and white uniform of the world champion Reds.

It was a strange sight. But when the players were introduced individually before the start of the game at Yankee Stadium, the crowd leaped to its feet and roared a salute that lasted a full 150 seconds.

The salute was repeated when Seaver was called to the mound in the sixth inning to defend a 5-0 National League lead.

Here, indeed, were the ingredients of raw drama. But baseball is a game played with hickory bats and bouncing balls which refuse to follow a written scenario.

Seaver came to the mound. He wiped his brow. He limbered up his strong right arm. The crowd roared. This was the time to respond to the howling acclaim by mowing 'em down with his fast one.

Red Carew, first man up, almost knocked Tom's head off with a shot past the pitcher's mound. Seaver couldn't duck the next one, a burner by Willie Randolph. The ball bounced off his right hand but he recovered, to get a sore-listed out. Fred Lynn walked. Then Richie Zisk lashed a double, scoring the first two American League runs.

The AL bombardment continued in the seventh, producing another run and Seaver heaved a heavy sigh of relief when Ron Fairly struck out.

Until the American League scored again in the ninth, Seaver had given up the only runs the ALers had salvaged the last three years: three in 1975, one in 1976.

Former Lion Suing Team

DETROIT (AP) — Former Detroit Lion defensive end Sam Williams has filed a lawsuit accusing the National Football League team of fraud in failing to tell him of a medical condition that should have stopped him from playing football.

Williams, who played with the Lions from 1960 through 1965, charged in the suit filed Tuesday that the Lions failed to inform him of a doctor's advice that he should not play on an injured right knee.

The suit charges that the Lions deliberately withheld the information from Williams, causing the injury to worsen, shortening his career and impairing his ability to play.

Named as defendants along with the Lions are former team physician Dr. Richard Thompson and former General Manager Edwin Anderson.

The suit charged that Thompson and Anderson deliberately withheld the results of a hospital examination from Williams in order to negotiate a three-year contract with him in 1965.

Williams, now 46 and a representative of a Detroit trucking firm, claimed he never learned of the incident until this year, when his attorney found the medical report while preparing a worker's compensation claim.

Neither Dr. Thompson nor Lions owner William Clay Ford could be reached for comment.

Williams reached the peak of his Lions career between 1962 and 1965, when he and fellow Lions Alex Karras, Roger Brown and Darrin McCord teamed up to become the "Fearsome Foursome," one of pro football's finest defensive forward walls.

Williams had surgery to remove cartilage from his right knee in the mid 1960s, but was allowed to go on playing. In the fall of 1965, according to the suit, he underwent a regular pre-season physical at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit.

It was then, the suit alleges, that an orthopedic surgeon notified the Lions that continued football action would aggravate Williams' knee problems and that he should not be allowed to play.

Muzzleloaders Set Shooting Contest

The annual two-day Gunsmoke Valley Muzzleloaders Shoot will be held Saturday and Sunday, July 23-24, at the Berrien County Sportsman's Club.

More than 100 shooters are expected for action which gets underway at 8 a.m. each day. There will be rifle shooting at novelty targets, a muzzleloading trap shoot and tomahawk and knife throwing, plus the regular shooting at standard targets to determine champions.

Trophies will be awarded for the first three places. There is a $7.50 entry fee for the event, which is open to the public.

Plangger's Bats Silent In Twin Bill Setbacks

COLDWATER — The Plangger's bats were silent again in 2-1 and 5-1 doubleheader fast pitch softball losses to Dean's here Tuesday.

Plangger's, now 42-20, got just four hits in the opener, including two singles by Kirk Hucker. Rick Plangger was the loser on a five-hitter which included 10 strikeouts and five walks.

Plangger's got six hits in the second game, including a seventh inning homer by Rick Plangger and two singles by Ron Mandarino. Rick Plangger was the losing pitcher while giving up nine hits.

Plangger's next action will be Friday in the 20-team, double elimination Madison (Wis.) Invitational.

St. Bernard's, Catholic Tied

St. Bernard's and St. Joseph Catholic posted victories to remain tied for the Lakeshore church league softball lead at 7-3.

St. Bernard's downed Stevensville Methodist 11-10 while St. Joseph Catholic edged Fairplain Presbyterian 24-21.

St. Bernard's got a home run from Greg Smith and two hits each from Bill Curry and Tim Harding. Dennis Grau had two hits and four RBIs for the losers.

Other action saw Benton Harbor Seventh Day Adventist topple Bridgman 18-8. Elliot Nunez had a homer for the winners while Keith Baker and Mark McClearay had three hits each. Solomon Collins was the winning pitcher.

Tigers' Trade Bait Alluring

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers will have more marketable baseball players this winter than in recent years.

Here's hoping General Manager Jim Campbell doesn't sit on his hands. Aurelio Rodriguez, Rusty Staub, Ben Oglivie, Tom Verzer and Dave Roberts are prime trade candidates.

Campbell has deftly peddled players in the past. He's got more to work with now, and he should be able to get some solid players in return.

The surprising development of Phil Mankowski makes Rodriguez expendable. Rodriguez, plagued by injuries this season, is still relatively young (29) and hasn't lost any of his great fielding ability at third base.

Staub's batting average hasn't been up to par and he's been complaining about the Tiger Stadium infield being slow. He has also beefed about being strictly a designated hitter, without being allowed to play on defense.

Despite troubles with his batting average, Staub is able to drive in 90 runs. That should make him very valuable in trade.

Outfielder Oglivie just hasn't come around this season, the first with Detroit in which he was given a starting job from the beginning of the campaign.

He's young (28), fast and hits with power. He's still got plenty of potential, but he's left-handed and the Tigers have an excess of left-handed outfielders at their disposal.

Verzer shows sparks of brilliance at shortstop. At other times he seems rather mediocre. He's been struggling to bat .200, yet has a knack for driving in runs.

Alan Trammell down at Montgomery is being tabbed as Detroit's next shortstop. If he's not ready next year, Mark Wagner at Evansville is as good as Verzer.

Roberts still has a few good years left. The southpaw pitcher, who had knee surgery in the off season, is having a down year. Rookie

The Tigers farm system, which gave Detroit a World Series champion in 1968, lapsed for a while. But it's been producing extremely well in the last few years. An abundance of minor league prospects can give Campbell extra sugar to spice possible trades.

Several promising minor leaguers who haven't quite made it with the Tigers are getting to the point where they've got to be traded if they ever expect to make it to the big leagues.

Among such players are outfielders Art James, John Valle and Dan Gonzalez; catcher Ted Brazell; pitchers Gary Christenson, Steve Trella, Bruce Taylor and Ed Glynn.

Some players signed after the recent free agent draft will quickly push former prospects into the background. Other newcomers will be crowded behind others at the same position.

Campbell has those players with which to work.

The Tigers are still struggling in the standings. But a couple key trades — plus the development of the young players they've already got — should put Detroit in pretty good shape by next spring.

Bouton Still Trying; Wins Portland Debut

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Fourteen years ago, Jim Bouton was on the mound in Cleveland, pitching in the All-Star game.

Tuesday night, 2,800 miles from Yankee Stadium and at the other end of the professional baseball spectrum, Bouton was hurling knuckleballs for the Portland Mavericks of the Class A Northwest League, a team with a reputation as enigmatic and unorthodox as Bouton's own.

There were 3,904 people in rickety Civic Stadium and the opponents were the Grays Harbor, Wash., Loggers. Most of the players were barely walking when Bouton signed his first pro contract.

What is a 38-year-old man who has written a bestseller, starred in a television series and worked as a sportscaster for two of New York's largest television stations doing drawing a $400 monthly salary and pitching against the likes of Salem, Walla Walla and Bellingham?

"Thirty-eight is just a number," he shrugged after going nine innings and scattering eight hits for a 6-5 victory in his Tuesday night debut.

Bouton created and starred in a television series based on his controversial bestseller about baseball "Ball Four." After the series was canceled following a brief run on CBS last fall, Bouton rejected an offer to return to WCBS as a sportscaster.

The dawn-to-dusk schedule of the television show left him drained. "I didn't see the sun for about a year," he said.

Besides, he said, sportscasting was not his favorite pastime.

So he left the lucrative job for a return to the summer game that had led to banner seasons with the perennial world champions, the New York Yankees. The career peaked when Bouton had a 21-7 record in 1963.

He finally left baseball, wrote the controversial "Ball Four" and took a job as a sportscaster at WABC in New York. Later, he shifted to WCBS. But he always wanted to return to baseball. He did briefly, in 1975, when he came to Portland and had a 4-1 record in a month's action.

To finance his latest comeback try, Bouton said, he's selling his $125,000 house in Englewood, N.J., and purchasing a more modest $75,000 home for his wife and three children.

His vehicle back to the big-time, he hopes, will be the knuckleball, that mysterious spitball pitch that bobs and weaves to the plate with no one — batter, catcher or pitcher — knowing exactly where it is going.

But his age has foiled his attempts so far. This spring, he was cut by the White Sox Knoxville farm team in the Class AA Southern League to make room for younger players. Then he was dropped by Durango in the Class AAA Mexican League.

So he called Bing Russell, the actor-writer from southern California who owns the Mavericks, a motley crew of hustling youngsters who are paid $400 per month during the summer and have no affiliation

Sassy Is First Chicago-Sarnia Finisher

SARNIA, Ont. (AP) — The fog lifted early today and winds picked up slightly as boats followed Sassy over the finish line in the second leg of the 550-mile Chicago-Sarnia yacht race.

Sassy, owned by Dutch Schmidt of Detroit, was the first yacht across the finish line Tuesday. She was also first across the line at Mackinac Island, where she took fourth place on corrected time and then continued on for the rest of the two-part race.

The Mackinac-Sarnia event was being run for the first time this year as an addition to the 333-mile, 70th annual Chicago-Mackinac race, which ended late Monday.

Heritage, owned by Don Wildman of Chicago, was the second boat across the Sarnia finish line followed by Encounter owned by George Stetteland of Milwaukee. Gurriere, the U.S. Naval Academy entry out of Annapolis, Md., was fourth.

The southwest winds picked up four or five knots after the first four boats finished and the remaining 41 crews headed hopefully toward the finish line.

The first boats across the finish line are not guaranteed of winning, however, because winners are declared on corrected time.

Meanwhile, heavy fog blanketing the Mackinac Straits — and the last seven miles of the Chicago-Mackinac course — continued to cause problems for the stragglers in the first event.

Several boats had not checked in with the race committee and others reportedly had dropped out, stymied by the fog, lack of wind and navigation problems.

At least three collisions were reported, with two boats running into the Mackinac harbor breakwater, three groundings near the finish line and one yacht on the rocks near Round Island Lighthouse.

"We drifted for five hours blowing our horn and listening to cries of 'We're aground,'" reported Ted Resse of Michigan City, Ind., on the Cadence II.

One vessel crossed the finish line going backward. The wrong-way-to-bout was the 39-foot New Spirit, crewed by Sea Explorer Courts from Chicago. The race committee said the boat was finally towed across the line by a dinghy.

The episode followed the grounding of the Sea Spirit on the beach directly in front of the committee's vantage point.

And after the New Spirit crossed the line and it became legal to use the vessel's engine, the engine wouldn't start.

NEW PROGRAM FOR HAIR LOSS

Frank Moran Shows He Regrew Hair. He Did Not Have Male Pattern Baldness.

MIDWEST/ERICKSON HAIR CONSULTANT WILL EXPLAIN HAIR PROBLEMS AT THE Holiday Inn, I-94 Ex. 28 & US-31, Benton Harbor, Michigan
Friday, July 22
HOURS 1 P.M. to 8:30 P.M.

Chicago, Ill., July 20, 1977. Mr. A.C. Erickson will be back in Benton Harbor, Michigan, again Friday, July 22, 1977. Now is the time to act on this great opportunity. Every man and woman now losing hair should take advantage of this FREE CONSULTATION.

GUARANTEED
You will be given a written guarantee on a pro-rated basis from the beginning to the end. Naturally we could not give you such a guarantee if it didn't work.

CAN'T HELP
Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. Midwest/Ericksen Hair Specialists cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of your hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair, now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

FREE CONSULTATION
Just take a few minutes of your time on Friday, July 22, 1977, and go to the Holiday Inn, I-94 Ex. 28 & U.S. 31 in Benton Harbor, Michigan, between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the Desk Clerk for A.C. Erickson's room number. There is no charge or obligation. All consultations are private; you will not be embarrassed in any way.

FOOTBALL
SAN FRANCISCO — Pittsburgh Steeler wide receiver Lynn Swann testified that a concussion-producing blow George Atkinson aimed at him in a game last September was "unnecessary, unwarranted and totally outrageous."

Swann, on the stand in Atkinson's $2 million slander suit against the Steelers and Coach Chuck Noll, also said he didn't see Atkinson before he was hit.

TENNIS
WASHINGTON — Two of the top seeds, Stan Smith and Cliff Richey, were ousted in the second day of the $125,000 Washington Star International Tennis Tournament, which already has lost several of its top ranked players because of injury.

BOATING
NEWPORT, R.I. — Courageous, one of three

American yachts vying to defend the America's Cup for the 23rd time, broke a headstay in observation trials against Enterprise, and the race was abandoned.

KLANGENFURT, Austria — West Germany continued its domination of the world whitewater canoeing and kayak championships on the Lieser River near Spittal An Der Drau, when its women won the whitewater team event in the kayak competition.

Switzerland finished second and France third.

GENERAL
BUCHAREST, Romania — American teen-agers Jeff Floot and Laura Barber swam off with four more gold medals, raising their two-day total to four gold each, as the United States dominated the swimming events at the World Games for the Deaf.

Nicklaus Tightening Down Concentration

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, a disappointed runner-up in his last two starts, needs a little mental adjustment coming into the $225,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship.

"I'm really playing very well. I've played well all year. Right now, I just need to screw my concentration down tight," Nicklaus said, pressing and twisting his thumb on a table for emphasis.

"Last week I made a double bogey and didn't even get mad. 'Now that's bad.' And it has cost him."

"Two weeks in a row I break the record — two weeks in a row I finish second," he mused. In each of the last two events, the British Open and the Pleasant Valley Classic, Nicklaus broke the tournament record. And he was beaten by one shot each time, by Tom Watson in the British Open, by Ray Floyd last week when Nicklaus admitted to being in a letdown.

But the letdown is over and he has a couple of extra inducements going for him in the 68th Canadian national championship that begins Thursday. First, he designed the 7,129-yard, par-72 Glen Abbey Golf Club course, a permanent site for this event and being played this year for the first time.

Second, there is his history in this event. It is one of the few important titles he has not won. His best showings have been four second-place finishes. "It's a national championship and therefore very important," he stressed.

A strong, international field, headed by American tourists, is arrayed against him in the chase for the $45,000 first prize.

Floyd and Bruce Lietzke, each a two-time winner this season, top the list that also includes defending champion Jerry Pate, Ben Crenshaw, Lee Trevino, Al Geiberger, Mark Hayes, Andy Bean and Arnold Palmer.

Other American standouts include Roger Maltbie, Miller Barber, George Burns, J.C. Snead, Tom Kite and Lou Graham.

George Knudson ranks as the outstanding Canadian. South African Gary Player and New Zealand's John Lister both have played well in recent American starts. Others include England's Tony Jacklin and Australian Bruce Devlin.

Gallup Youth Survey

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
PRINCETON, N.J. — Although some teen-agers are inclined to regard anyone over 30 as "middle aged," the top movie favorites of young people nationwide are for the most part persons old enough to be their fathers — even their grandfathers.

Their top choice, movie idol Robert Redford, will celebrate his 40th birthday in August, while the runner-up is "Duke" John Wayne, who has long since passed his 55th birthday. In third place is the only finalist on the list, singer-actress Barbra Streisand, followed by Clint Eastwood.

None of the top 10 favorites are under 30. Parah Fawcett-Majors and Sylvester Stallone, each 30 years old, are the youngest personalities to make the list. Seven of the top 10 are pushing 40 or are older.

The choices of today's teenagers suggests that the rugged "macho" type of male has replaced the romantic "pretty boy" ideal as the favorite movie type.

The latest Gallup Youth survey also sought to determine the images of these movie personalities. Here are the images of the top five choices:

REDFORD: "The sexiest creature that ever walked on the face of the earth." "Almost too good-looking, but I hear he wears elevators in his shoes." "He acts macho — I like that!" "He's gorgeous, has a beautiful body, fantastic actor — a little short, but who cares?" "Beautiful eyes — what more needs to be said?"

WAYNE: "A symbol of patriotism who has built respect for the country among young people." "Bold, but kind-hearted, a real outdoorsy type." "A father figure."

STREISAND: "There's an aura of glamour and mystery about her." "She's something else!" "Talented, exotic!" "A funny girl with a great voice." "She's no 'Dolly'!"

EASTWOOD: "He thinks, breathes and dreams violence." "Debonnaire and dashing." "A rugged gunslinger — someone I'd like to be like."

STALLONE: "Rough but tender — what a combo!" "Very versatile — an excellent actor AND writer." "An all-round cool guy." "Perceptive and sensitive — and what a build!" "A hunk!"

The following list shows the 10 top choices (and their ages):

TOP 10 CHOICES

1. Robert Redford (39)
2. John Wayne (70)
3. Barbra Streisand (33)
4. Clint Eastwood (47)
5. Sylvester Stallone (30)
6. Parah Fawcett-Majors (30)

7. Paul Newman (52)
8. Burt Reynolds (41)
9. Jerry Lewis (51)
10. Charles Bronson (54)

The three top choices of boys are "macho" types — Wayne, Clint Eastwood, and Sylvester Stallone, star of his own movie, "Rocky." In next place is Parah Fawcett-Majors, followed by Charles Bronson in fifth place and Burt Reynolds in sixth.

Here are the top choices of boys:

2. Eastwood
3. Stallone
4. Fawcett-Majors
5. Bronson
6. Reynolds
7. Redford
8. Newman
9. Streisand
10. Charlton Heston

The girls go for Redford. He is number one on their list followed by Streisand and Stallone. John Wayne is fourth on their list, while Paul Newman rounds out the first five.

The results are based on a representative sample of 1,069 teenagers nationwide. Interviews were conducted during the period April 18-24.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The city of Lincoln, Neb., has been declared the most attractive of 100 American cities surveyed by the Center for Applied Urban Research of the University of Nebraska here.

Detroit ranked 98th out of the 100, followed only by Gary, Ind., and Newark, N.J.

The only other Michigan cities included in the list didn't fare so well either. Grand Rapids managed to come in 45th, while Flint was 92nd.

The Nebraska center selected 80 measurable factors relating to a city's economic, demographic and social environment, applied them to 100 major cities, and concluded that considering all factors, Lincoln was the best.

Madison, Wis., ranked second; Des Moines, Iowa, was third; and Omaha came in fourth.

The center ranked the cities by two methods. The first weighted each of the 80 factors equally, while the second divided the factors into four general categories, then weighted each category equally. The categories were economic factors, demographic and environmental factors, crime factors and recreation and education factors.

By both methods, the top four and bottom three rankings were the same. Other rankings varied.

Ralph Todd, who headed the project, said his research was intended to provide a yardstick with which to compare conditions in one city with those in other cities. In doing that, he said, attitudes or opinions, subjective aspects that don't lend themselves to measurement, weren't used.

Instead, Todd and his researchers dealt with such things as per capita income, electricity rates, population density, divorce rates and numbers of books in a city's library.

Outlines Fennville position

TWO-COUNTY DECISION MAY BE APPEALED

Pullman School Transfer Voted Down

BY DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

LAWRENCE — The possibility of transferring a portion of the Pullman area from the Bloomingdale to the Fennville school district died last night — at least for a while.

Members of the Allegan and Van Buren intermediate school boards meeting in joint session voted 7 to 3 against a plan that would have sent 34 Pullman area students from Bloomingdale to Fennville.

William Sexton, Allegan intermediate superintendent, said that the decision may be appealed, within the next 10 days, to the state Board of Education, which could overturn the ruling.

Supervisor Edward Yetzke, of Allegan county's Lee township and one of the transfer plan's biggest boosters, indicated last night that he planned to appeal the board's decision. Pullman is located in the township.

A joint decision by the intermediate boards was required because the Fennville district lies in Allegan county and the Bloomingdale district is in Van Buren county.

The Pullman area is in Allegan county, about six miles south of Fennville. It is about 17 miles northwest of Bloomingdale.

Had the transfer been approved, it would have required only a favorable vote from Bloomingdale district voters to take effect. Van Buren board member Rex Allen said not allowing Fennville voters a voice in the decision was "undemocratic."

"I would feel very uncomfortable imposing my wishes upon Fennville without their blessing," added Allegan board member Cleon Duryea.

All five Allegan members, Duryea, Ernest Hufacker, Phyllis Drozd, Arnold Green, and Robert Brandon, voted against the transfer, as did Allen and Felix (Phil) Race of the Van Buren board.

Favoring the plan were Edwin Boyce, Mrs. Frances Sage, and Richard Barden of the Van Buren board. Passage required six favorable votes.

One of the major reasons the Fennville board opposed the transfer, according to Supt. James Tackmann, was that Pullman residents would continue paying toward the bond debt of the Bloomingdale district, until the current obligation was paid off. They would not be contributing to paying on Fennville's six mill levy for bond debt until some time in the future, he said.

Fennville board member Donald Nye noted that much of that debt is for a new high school completed two years ago. He said one taxpayer told him,

"I figure I just bought a new Cadillac (the high school) and nobody else is going to drive it without helping to buy the gas."

LeRoy Wolins, a transfer supporter, charged that the Fennville board was set to approve the plan until it was pressured by a group of about 90 people who appeared at a special board meeting Monday night. At that meeting, the board voted to oppose the transfer.

"The Fennville people were never in any systematic way informed of what this (the transfer) involved," he said.

Wolins said arguments about Pullman residents not paying on the Fennville debt were misleading. He said that under state law, Fennville could arrange to pay to Bloomingdale that portion of the Bloomingdale bond debt which residents in the transfer area would have paid until the bond obligations expired. Fennville could then add the Pullman taxpayers to help pay off its bond debt in a much shorter time, he said.

At least part of the opposition to the transfer was apparently based on the way Pullman residents have traditionally voted "no" on most bond issues and millages. Wolins noted that Pullman voters, since joining the Bloomingdale district in 1968, have often felt isolated because of the distance to Bloomingdale.

Yetzke said that while some parts of the Pullman area are 18 miles from Bloomingdale, under a transfer the farthest a Fennville bus would have to travel one way would be 10 miles. He added that most people in Pullman do their shopping and other business in Fennville and have stronger ties there than to Bloomingdale.

A survey by a citizens group indicated that 360 of 623 Pullman area persons polled favored transfer to Fennville. Had the transfer plan been approved, Fennville would have received an additional 78 students in the high school, 72 in the middle school, and 193 at the elementary level.

EDWARD YETZKE

Sexton said an arrangement would also have had to be worked out to compensate Bloomingdale for the loss of the Burrows and Pullman elementary schools, which are in the transfer area, and become part of the Fennville district.

James Muenzer, Bloomingdale board president, said he favored the transfer because it would gradually ease enrollment pressures. Bloomingdale has been on half day sessions in grades 6-12 for the last seven years.

Tackmann estimated that had the transfer been approved, an additional three to four buses would have been needed.

The taxable value of the proposed transfer area is just over $4 million. Tackmann estimated that adding the Pullman area to the Fennville district would bring in an additional $383,000 annually in taxes for operations and state aid.

TRANSFER POINTS: Map shows location of Pullman area relative to Fennville and Bloomingdale. Distance between Fennville and Pullman is about six miles. Distance between Pullman and Bloomingdale is about 17 miles. Residents in Pullman area are seeking transfer from Bloomingdale school district to Fennville school district.

BH Board Will Retain Labor Negotiators

The Benton Harbor school board last night voted 5 to 2 to retain the Kalamazoo law firm of Jacobs and Ward to negotiate labor contracts for Benton Harbor area schools.

Freddie Moore, school board treasurer, and Mrs. Jacqueline Pearson, board secretary, cast the dissenting votes. Moore said he objected to the cost of retaining a legal firm for labor negotiations.

Jacobs and Ward has been the board's negotiator for several years.

"Approximately $51,000 has been spent so far this year on negotiations that are only half completed," Moore said. "It's inconsistent to reduce programs throughout the school district for financial reasons and at the same time ask to increase spending for labor negotiations."

Larry Rankens, director of business and finance for Benton Harbor area schools, said that contract negotiations are currently underway for four of the district's nine labor unions — teachers, paraprofessionals, secretaries, and administrators. "I have no qualms about changing horses in the middle of the stream," Moore commented. "We should be able to handle negotiations through the personnel in our own school district."

Melvin Farmer Jr., board vice president, proposed that the firm of Jacobs and Ward be used only for labor contracts and not grievance processing and other labor related matters, as in the past. The resolution, as passed, allows the firm to negotiate only labor contracts and other special cases as determined by the board.

"I don't think it would be wise at this stage of negotiations to change or drop legal counsel," Farmer said. "That decision can be brought up again at a later date when the timing is less critical."

In other action the board approved borrowing $3 million against anticipated state aid from Old Kent Bank and Trust Co., of Grand Rapids at a rate of 3.24 per cent. Rankens said that the 3.24 interest rate was exceptionally good considering current market conditions.

At last night's meeting the board also:

—Called a special session for Thursday, July 21, at 7 p.m. in the board room at 711 East Britain, to discuss decisions needed for the instructional division of the school district.

—Approved a budget of $79,036 for summer school programs.

—Approved school-wide student accident insurance

—Extended contracts of central administrative staff for one year ending June 30, 1979.

—Awarded an hourly pay increase of 4.5 per cent to seven non-union secretaries working at 711 E. Britain.

—Accepted gift of school playground equipment valued at $882 to Fairplain West School from the Parents and Teachers organization of the school.

—Accepted gift of playground equipment and a carpet for the library valued at $817 from the Parents and Teachers organization of the Fairplain Northwest school.

Fire Levels Home At Union Pier

UNION PIER — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a house on Locke road here early today, according to Chikaming township police. Damage was estimated at $12,000, police said.

Patrolman William Tucker said the one-story frame structure was engulfed in flames by the time Chikaming township firemen arrived. He said the house was owned by David Pickens, who lives nearby on Locke road and made the damage estimate.

Tucker said no one was at home when the fire was reported at 12:27 a.m. by a neighbor, Randy Watkins, also of Locke road. The house was rented by Elizabeth Krueger, who was in the process of moving, police said.

Cassopolis Man Dies Of Gunshot

CASSOPOLIS — Ralph Leroy Stites, 28, of 120 South Disbrow, Cassopolis, died Monday night in Jonesboro, Ark., of a gunshot wound.

Jonesboro police this morning said the shooting is still under investigation and that no arrests have been made in connection with the death. Police said the shooting occurred in a trailer occupied by Stites and there was another man in the trailer when police arrived. He was not identified and was not being held. Police said a handgun was used. Stites was born July 3, 1949, in South Bend, Ind.

Survivors include his wife, the former Karen Orrick, whom he married July, 1973; a son, Ralph, at home; a daughter, Patricia, at home; two step-daughters, Debbie and Tammy, at home; his father, Ralph, Gary, Ind.; his mother, Mrs. Virginia Benjamin, Niles; his grandmother, Mrs. Donna Jones, Niles; two sisters, Mrs. Mercedes Cole, Niles, Mrs. Tonnie Taylor, Michigan City, Ind.; two brothers, Dennis, South Bend, Nevada, Niles; and two half-brothers, Daniel Ohms, Michigan City, Ind., Robert Ohart, White Cloud.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:30 p.m. at McLaughlin-Clark funeral home, Dowagiac. Burial will be in Chapel Hill Memorial gardens, Mishawaka, Ind. Friends may call after 2 p.m. Thursday.

TOO MANY PETS: Paul and Bonnie Thompson of Berkley, Mich., say they will leave town before they will let City Hall tell them how many cats and dogs they can keep around the house. The city code says, "No person shall keep more than a total of three dogs or three cats or combination thereof that are age of six months or over." The Thompsons with their children, Jeremy, 10, and Caryn, 5, show off their three dogs and three cats which they claim doesn't put them over limit because each of them is "a person" and entitled to three as the ordinance is written. Magazine Salesmen Slapped With Fines

Two door-to-door magazine salesmen were sentenced in Berrien Fifth District court yesterday to pay fines and cost of $15 each after they pleaded guilty to charges of soliciting without a permit in St. Joseph township. Sentenced were Dennis Brown, 25, and Randolph McCants, 21. Both gave their address as Post Office Box Q, Cupertino, Cal. They were sentenced by Judge Hugh Black. The two were arrested on Lincoln avenue Monday by St. Joseph township police officer Larry Eichelberger. Township police said Eichelberger was dispatched to look for magazine salesmen in response to complaints from township residents.

VAN BUREN COUNTY MURDER TRIAL

Witness Says He Saw Shooting

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A witness testified in Van Buren circuit court Tuesday that he saw Lee Rogers Newman, Jr. fire shots from both inside and outside a car during a Feb. 24 shooting melee outside a South Haven home. Ofis Clay (O.C.) Echols said that while he could not see the face of the person who was shooting, he was sure it was Newman because he knew him well.

The testimony came as the second week of Newman's trial on an open charge of murder in connection with the shooting death of Jenise Lee Perry got underway. A second count charges Newman with assault with intent to commit murder against Obie Franklin, who was wounded in the arm during the same episode.

Echols, who is a cousin of Miss Perry, testified that after he saw Newman fire from the car, he ducked away as a shot hit the house. He said that when he looked up again, Newman was outside the car and that he saw Franklin stagger, then run toward the house.

Echols also said that he fired two shots at the car with a .32-caliber pistol as it was driven away.

Prosecutor Ward S. Hamlin, Jr. said earlier in the trial that he intends to prove that Miss Perry, a 17-year-old South Haven high school junior, was killed by a bullet which passed through the wall of the home, which is located at 410 Cable street. Hamlin said he will prove the shot was fired by Newman in an attempt to kill Franklin.

Previous testimony by a South Haven woman, Istance Gill, indicated that Newman and Franklin had gotten into a fight over Franklin's girlfriend several days earlier. At the time he was shot, Franklin was following Mrs. Gill out to the car, according to her testimony. Echols' brother, William Echols, also testified yesterday that he saw flashes coming from the car, and that Miss Perry was in the vicinity of a chair it is believed she was sitting in when struck by a shot.

Assault Suspect To Get Hearing

A man accused of threatening a police officer with a loaded .22-caliber rifle was arraigned in Berrien Fifth District court yesterday on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Sidney Merrill, 21, of Box 37 Territorial road, Millburg, demanded a preliminary examination on the charge when brought before Judge Ronald J. Taylor.

Merrill was returned to jail in lieu of $15,000 bond. Merrill is accused of pointing the loaded weapon at Benton township police officer Robert Polmanter, according to the warrant.

Police said members of his family wrestled Merrill to the ground before he was arrested about 1:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Polmanter and other officers encountered Merrill while investigating a reported fight in Millburg.

Also demanding a preliminary examination yesterday was Mary Jo McKinney, 22, of 648 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, on the felony charge of larceny in a building. She is accused of stealing a pair of shorts from Bargain Center, Benton township, Monday.

Court records show Mary Jo McKinney has three previous convictions of petty larceny, a misdemeanor.

She was jailed in lieu of $1,500 bond.

Frank J. Davis, 23, of 968 Chicago avenue, Benton township, was bound over to Circuit court for trial on a charge of breaking and entering a building at 412 Graham avenue, Benton township, on July 7.

John W. Dandridge, 33, of Madison, Ill., was sentenced to pay a fine and costs of $100 for recklessly carrying a .38-caliber revolver — reduced from carrying a concealed weapon — on a 1991 in Benton township July 9. He was also sentenced to pay $50 for possession of marijuana.

Charles Brown, 26, of 1903 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, was sentenced to pay $100 for assault and battery on Barbara Johnson in Benton Harbor June 24. He was also sentenced to pay $120 for petty larceny — the theft of cash and diet pills from Barbara Johnson.

Douglas E. Hammond (also known as Boo Boo and Douglas Hamilton), 17, of 774 McAlister avenue, Benton Harbor, was sentenced to 75 days jail for conspiracy to enter without

New Buffalo Approves Street Improvements

NEW BUFFALO — The New Buffalo city council last night authorized its engineering consultants to proceed with plans for some $200,000 in street and railroad crossing improvements.

Thomas Deneau, of Wightman and Associates, St. Joseph, the city's consulting engineers, told the council that the project is eligible for 90 per cent funding through the state highway additional $30,000 for engineering fees.

William Marx, city manager, told the council that an earlier city application for funding on the proposal through the federal Economic Development Authority was rejected by the EDA.

In other action, Mayor Carol Bond said a proposed agreement between the city and New Buffalo township for police protection in the township is not economically feasible and the council will make a counter offer at a later, but unspecified time.

Township Supervisor Edward Ohlme presented a proposed agreement from the township which called for weekly city patrols in the township at a cost of $3,200 per year.

Ohlme also told the council the township is interested in purchasing water from the city. The council agreed that representatives from each body would meet to come up with a proposal on the sale. No specific date was set.

Four Are Accused Of Hog Thefts

MARCELLUS — A man and three juvenile boys were arrested yesterday by Cass county sheriff's deputies on warrants charging larceny of livestock — hogs from a Marcellus farm on June 30. Booked on the charge at the county jail in Cassopolis was Charles Hauch, 22, Marcellus. The three boys, all about 15 or 16, have been petitioned to Cass county juvenile court, according to the sheriff's office. They are from the Marcellus and Three Rivers area.

According to deputies, the arrests were the result of investigation into a rash of hog thefts in the Marcellus area. The warrants allege that an unspecified number of hogs were taken from the Keith Dodge farm near Marcellus on June 30.

The arrests came a week after Dodge appeared at a meeting of the Cass county board of commissioners to complain about hog rustling and lack of action by the sheriff's office.

Cass Sheriff James Northrup, at that time, reported that reports showed some 111 hogs had been stolen in the county since January. Northrup said today that an investigation is continuing into the thefts and added more arrests are expected in the near future.

Lawton Gets Three Bids For Paving

LAWTON — Bids for paving work on two streets were received last night by Lawton village council.

Apparent low bidder was John G. Yerlington Co., Benton Harbor, at $18,453. Consumers Asphalt, Benton Harbor, submitted a bid of $19,296, and Klett Construction, Hartford, a bid of $21,011.

Clerk Barbara Weurding said the bids will be reviewed by the village's engineering firm, Western Survey and Engineering, Watervliet, to determine conformity to specifications.

The streets to be paved are North Nursery from North street to the railroad, and Second street from Railroad street to Nursery street.

The council also accepted the low bid of $11,251 from Tandem International, Kalamazoo, for a dump truck for the public works department.

Refined Coal Tests 'Success'

ATLANTA (AP) — Tests show a fuel refined from coal burns so cleanly that it surpasses current federal clean air requirements, Southern Co. President Alvin Vogtle Jr. says.

The first federally funded test burning of solvent refined coal at Plant Mitchell near Albany, Ga., was labeled "an unqualified technical success" by Vogtle, whose firm is the parent company of Alabama Power, Georgia Power, Gulf Power of Florida and Mississippi Power.

Dowagiac Man Is Bound Over

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Dowagiac man accused of stabbing a man who had given him a ride was bound over to Van Buren circuit court Tuesday following seventh district court preliminary examination.

Bound over on charges of attempted murder and assault with intent to do great bodily harm was Randolph Morrow, 30, of the Indian Hills apartments, Dowagiac.

The charges grew out of a complaint by James Fossdick, 20, rural Dowagiac, that he was stabbed by a hitchhiker he picked up in Decatur July 3. Fossdick, who was stabbed in the stomach, said he escaped after the man had forced him to drive to Dowagiac, according to Van Buren sheriff's deputies.

In other cases, Robin Burke, 23, 317 St. Joseph, Paw Paw, was bound over to circuit court following examination on a charge of assaulting a police officer. Van Buren sheriff's deputies said the charge resulted from a complaint by Sgt. John Gaborik that a woman hit him with her fists while she was being booked at the county jail July 11.

Deputies said the woman had been arrested on a charge of

Randy Sibley, 27, formerly of Hartford, pleaded no contest to a charge of simple larceny, reduced from embezzlement.

Sibley was accused of taking about $2,000 from the Hartford Gas station, 108 East Main, Hartford, where he formerly worked. Sentencing was delayed until next Dec. 12 to give him time to make restitution, said Magistrate Norman G. Rushing.

Judge William C. Buhl took under advisement a guilty plea by William Washburn, 47, Hilltop Orchards, Hartford, to a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants in Lawrence early Tuesday morning.

It Has Been

A Hot Summer

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta area has been having a heat wave practically since summer began on June 21st, the weather service says. Twenty-five of the 28 summer days through Monday saw temperatures moving to 90 or above. The weather service says Atlanta has an average of 19 summer days with temperatures of 90 or higher.

David Niven's Itching To Pen His Third Book

Q: Will David Niven write a third book of memoirs? — P.M., Miami.

A: David really has the writing bug and, of course, he loves all the money his first two best sellers pulled in. However, he's not going to do any more autobiographical writing. His third book will be a novel, called "The Beside Table," and David promises it will be as an actress.

Q: Any news of my old favorite Mary Travers of the Peter, Paul and Mary folksinging group? — A. H., Hayward, Calif.

A: Mary's in love and the man in her life is the former assistant special Watergate prosecutor, Richard Ben-Veniste. Right now, Mary is in Washington while the tall, handsome lawyer is working on a case.

Q: Does the news that Mia Farrow is back in this country and reviving her movie career again mean her marriage to Andre Previn is in trouble and she no longer wants to play the loving wife and mother? — E.C., The Bronx.

A: Mia has learned to live with Andre's wandering eye and they are the picture of domestic bliss. Mia is going to star in Robert Altman's new picture, "A Wedding," replacing Shelley Duvall. Mia, however, still plays the devoted mother. In fact, she and Andre have just adopted a Korean orphan girl to join their family of four: their own twin boys and their two adopted Vietnamese daughters.

Q: Now that Tony Curtis has written a novel is he going to quit acting and devote his time to writing fiction? — E.P., Whitehouse, N.Y.

A: Tony's not about to trade acting for writing, though he is at work on another novel called "Starstruck," which will be semi-autobiographical, about his early days in Hollywood. He also hopes to turn his first, "Kid Andrew Cody and Julie Sparrow," into a movie which he'd write, produce and direct. After being in the doldrums for almost a decade, Tony's busier than ever.

Q: What's happened to the Hugh Hefner-Barbi Benton love affair? — D.W., Chicago.

A: It's cooled considerably with Hugh more and more involved with his Playboy empire and Barbi becoming more and more ambitious for her own singing career. While Hugh can still have his pick of bunnies, Barbi has settled down with actor Andrew Prince.

Q: How are things different in China today from the way they were in Mao Tse-tung's day? — L.J., Carmel, Calif.

A: Joe Cisco, the former undersecretary of state, went to China a few weeks ago as a Jimmy Carter emissary. He talked with an old woman who does embroidery work in a factory. She told Joe the big difference in China today is this: In Mao's day she was permitted only to embroider likenesses of Mao, Chou En-lai and other leaders. Now she's allowed to embroider the traditional themes of birds, dragons and ancient symbols.

even more amusing and outrageous than his fact books.

Q: I saw a photo of Myrna Loy at Juan Crawford's funeral — has this old-timer given up her acting career? — A.F., Harrisburg, Pa.

A: Though she'll be 72 in August, Myrna swears she'll keep acting as long as the roles are offered. In the past few years she's been busy on Broadway (revival of "The Women"), touring ("Don Juan in Hell") and doing an occasional TV assignment. She's just signed to play Bart Reynolds' mother in "The End" — her first film since "Airport '75" — which isn't a bad way to celebrate 53 years
